'HEAVY CALLS' COMING, DRAFT BOARDS TOLD

Richland Units Warned To Have 150 Men Ready at All Times For Induction.

INCREASES START OCT. 1

Scores of More Men To Get Military Training Orders In Next 2 Months.

Richland county selective service boards were told today to speed up the examination of men in preparation for "heavy draft calls" which are expected to take scores of selectees from the county during October and November.

State draft officials said calls would be heavy beginning Oct. 1, and warned the three county boards to have at least 50 men each ready for induction at any time. Calls were light in July and August and so far only 22 men are scheduled to leave the county in September.

Board clerks said the induction of more men will require physical examination sessions at least once a week. Because the boards had a surplus of men, the examinations were discontinued for several weeks this summer.

The clerks pointed out that they will lose a part of their back-log of men when they begin eliminating registrants past 28 under the new army regulations. Board No. 1 alone has 23 men past 28 who have taken their examinations and qualified except for their age.

Only men who were 28 before they were inducted into the army are eligible for release, while those who were 27 last July 1 may be inducted at any time prior to July 1, 1942, regardless of whether they are 27 or 28 at the time of induction, state draft headquarters told the boards.

Twenty-three registrants in the 21-year-old group had qualified for induction today following examinations yesterday at the Mansfield Armory. Twenty-four of 37 youths examined received a 1-A rating, and three other cases are pending.

Results of the examinations showed again that the 21-year-olders are healthier than the older registrants with a larger number of them qualifying for induction into the army.

A report of yesterday's examinations showed that all four of the registrants from Board 1 qualified, while Board 2 qualified 10 out of 18, and Board 3 had 10 of 15 who passed the tests and three others who may pass after further tests are made.

A part of the 22 men due to leave this month, probably during the last week of the month, will be in the 21-year-old group. More of them will go in October, board clerks said.

First Meeting of U. S. Super Defense Board

First U. S. Oil Tanker Safe at Russian Port

Ship Carrying 95,000 Barrels of Plane Fuel Unmolested By Japanese on Journey to Vladivostok.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The state department today received official word from the American consul at Vladivostok that the first American oil tanker has arrived there safely.

Both gratification and relief were felt in official quarters that Japan made no attempt to interfere with the passage through the Sea of Japan of the first American vessel to carry aid to Soviet Russia via Vladivostok.

Japan's restraint is regarded as evidence of the Japanese government's desire to avoid difficulties with the United States.

Los Angeles officials of the Union Oil company said today they had also been advised of the arrival in Vladivostok of the company's tanker L. P. St. Clair, which sailed Aug. 15 with a cargo of 95,000 barrels of aviation gasoline.

The tanker Associated left San Francisco on Aug. 19 with a similar cargo and was due at Vladivostok any day, as was the Standard Oil tanker J. C. Fitzsimmons which left El Segundo, Cal., on Aug. 17.

TRUCK PARKING PLAN HITS SNAG

Down Town Unloading Schedule Impossible, City Officials Say; Substitute Mapped.

Mansfield city officials today shelved plans for a definite loading and unloading schedule for trucks which have clogged down town streets by double-parking and announced that a substitute plan would be tried.

As a result of a meeting with 16 trucking company heads last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals decided that a rigid schedule for truck deliveries is impractical.

In its place, they will hood parking meters at street intersections to provide the trucks parking places while loading and unloading merchandise for stores.

Boals said he believed that the provision of the parking spaces will eliminate the greater part of the traffic problem. He indicated that the plan would be given at least a month's trial to Grand Jurors To Probe Auto Deaths, Shooting Sept. 16.

The Richland county grand jury will convene at 9 a. m., Sept. 16 to begin its investigation of at least 20 cases, including four fatal traffic accidents in the county in recent weeks and a shooting case last Friday night at the Andrew Kozma home at 518 North Mulberry street.

Traffic accidents scheduled for investigation resulted in the deaths of Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Springer of Mansfield on July 5; Mrs. Hilda Greenwald, Cleveland, July 11; Raymond Bricker of Shelby, July 12, and Marion Richard Pryor, Lincoln Heights, July 15.

The jurors will probe the firing of a shotgun charge which nearly struck Mrs. Kozma in the head as she sat on the front porch at her home. Her husband admitted having the gun in the living room at the time of the shooting but contended it was accidentally discharged. Kozma was bound over yesterday under $1,500 bond on a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

U. S. Considers Aid to Mexico In Stabilizing Currency.

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau today announced that the United States is negotiating with Mexico to lend that country funds to stabilize its currency.

Morgenthau told a press conference that the negotiations were under way but would not reveal how much the loan would be, nor would he disclose the names of the parties now carrying on the discussions for the two countries.

There have been reports that the United States would make similar stabilizing loans to South American countries, but the treasury head said he could not comment on this move as yet.

Fox Named New Commander Of Mansfield's Legion Post

Sam V. Fox, corporal with the Rainbow division during the World war, was elected commander of McVey Post of the American Legion to succeed Earl Saltzgabor when the post held annual election of officers last night, at a meeting attended by approximately 300 members.

Other officers, newly elected, were: William E. Bradford, senior vice commander; Russell E. Moore, junior vice commander; William Schnug, finance officer, and James Brownscombe, sergeant at arms.

Rev. G. E. Swoyer was re-elected to his eighth term as chaplain and Chalmers Harris was re-elected adjutant.

Fox, the new commander, first saw service with the Rainbow division in the 2nd ambulance corps, in Columbus. He was transferred to Troop B, 1st Ohio cavalry, and then to the 4th Ohio mounted

MYSTERY COMA STRIKES WOMAN

Mrs. Clark Brook, Prominent Clubwoman, Unconscious For 36 Hours.

In a coma for the past 36 hours as the result of an illness which has baffled physicians, Mrs. Clark Brook, 201 Euclid avenue, was showing indications of possible reviving today, it was learned from friends who were with her.

Apparently in good health Tuesday night when she retired, Mrs. Brook failed to awaken yesterday morning.

Throughout the day she remained in a mysterious "sleep." Her condition was no better last night and it was not until this morning that she showed some signs of possibly regaining consciousness, her friends said.

They said she opens her eyes at times, but fails to recognize members of her family. It appears she also makes efforts to talk but her speech is incoherent, friends said.

Members of the family feared that the coma might indicate an attack of sleeping sickness or possibly infantile peralysis which is known to affect its victims in that manner in its early stages. The physician in charge of the case was not available for comment today.

Mrs. Brook is president of the Dolly Madison club, an organization of Democratic women, and active in political circles in the city and county. Her husband is employed as purchasing agent in the Richland county highway department.

Maybe Cobina Will Marry Young Army Corporal After All

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Cobina Wright, jr., New York glamor girl and movie actress, may marry Corp. Palmer T. Beaudette after all, she admitted today.

Whether Miss Wright would or wouldn't marry the young draftee, wealthy scion of a Detroit auto body manufacturing family, became a question earlier this week when Beaudette announced in Seattle that the wedding was to take place Nov. 4 in New York.

That, said Miss Wright today, was not quite right. She is very fond of Corp Beaudette, she said, and "might marry him eventually," but there's nothing definite about it."

And Corp. Beaudette? He and 3,299 of his more anonymous doughboy buddies were in an army motorcade traveling from Fort Lewis, Wash., to San Francisco.

INVITES STUDY OF BRITAIN'S USE OF HELP

PEACE-MONGERS OUT

Churchill Says Nations Out of Nazi Range Needed For Victory.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—An open invitation to the American congress to send committees to study the application of lease-lend material was extended today by Branddan Bracken, British minister of information.

Bracken warned, however, that although "honest criticism is welcomed, no peace mongers will be allowed."

Bracken asserted that the British government would have no objection if American congressional committeemen, after visiting England, went on to visit Germany. He pointed out, however, that this could not be allowed if the Americans conceived their role as that of peace intermediaries.

Answering a question on the British attitude if American congressional critics of the application of lease-lend law supplies were to ask to visit England, Bracken declared:

"I gladly accept the suggestion that members of the American congress come to England to make inquiries on the use of lease-lend supplies. If they want to go on to Germany, later, Britain would make no conditions on their continuing their journeys."

But when Bracken was questioned on the possibility that this would look like a peace mission, he emphatically asserted:

"There is no question of our using intermediaries to make peace. We are fully confident of our strength to destroy the Nazis.

"Therefore no peace mongers will be allowed."

STRIKE DELAYED

CIO Workers Stay on Jobs at Warren OPS Plant.

A threatened strike at the Ohio Public Service's Warren generating plant failed to materialize last night as scheduled, Associated Press dispatches from Warren said today.

Harold J. Straub, national director of the CIO Utility Workers Organizing Committee, which called the strike, said: "We feel that the defense program is vitally important and we realize that a strike would seriously interfere with the defense production of the Mahoning valley."

Plans to seek a National Labor Relations Board election to "determine whether this plant is an appropriate unit for collective bargining" were announced by the CIO.

Officials of the company, which serves Mansfield and nine other northern Ohio communities, have expressed a preference to negotiate with a bargaining agency representing all employes in the concern's 10-city system. The AFL Electrical Workers' Union has already petitioned the NLRB for certification as bargaining agent for employes in the entire system.

Held In German Spy Round-Up

Held by United States authorities as members of a huge German spy ring are Lucy Boehmler, 18, pretty blue-eyed blond (left above), who yesterday pleaded guilty to federal indictment for espionage at New York and Karl Herman Schroetter, skipper of a Miami, Fla., fishing boat, who waived extradition to New York during a hearing at Miami. Schroetter is being held under $25,000 bond.

Attorney Tells of Dramatic Pursuit Of Fremont Native Across U. S. As He Flees From F. B. I.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—An 18-year-old, German-born girl and two youths have admitted their guilt as Nazi spies as the government, pressing a new move against Nazi agents in the United States, obtained four new federal indictments and began the trial of 16 previously arrested individuals.

The girl, Lucy Boehmler, a native of Stuttgart, Germany, and now a resident of New York, Hans Pagel, 20, a native of Wunstorf, Germany, now employed in a Brooklyn brewery, and Frederick Edward Schlosser, 19, a New York born youth, all pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of conspiring to send vital defense information.

The three were indicted yesterday, along with Kurt Frederick Ludwig, 38, a native of Fremont, O., arrested 11 days ago in Spokane, Wash.

As the new indictments were being returned, a jury was drawn in federal court in Brooklyn for the trial of 16 other persons who were arrested last June in a spectacular roundup by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Miss Boehmler, a blue-eyed, attractive girl, was held in $10,000 bail, while Pagel and Schlosser were held in $25,000 bond each for sentence. The maximum pen-

FDR Directs Transfer of War Materials To Troops.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Acting under provisions of the lend-lease act, President Roosevelt today directed transfer of various American war materials to the Polish government in exile.

Specifically, the defense articles will go to Polish troops now training in Canada for action alongside the British overseas, and will include machine guns, submachine guns, rifles, artillery equipment, trucks and other supplies.

This was the first time that the United States extended lease-lend aid to a defeated government, but Mr. Roosevelt declared that "the gallant resistance of the forces of the government of Poland is vital to the defense of the United States."

Merchants Move to Continue Saturday Night Closing Here

Mansfield will no longer be classed among "Saturday night towns" if the recommendation of the board of trustees of the Retail Merchants association for a year-round 6 p. m. closing hour for Saturdays is accepted by merchants in the city.

V. H. Lodde, secretary of the association, announced today that the trustees have recommended that the summer schedule of closing Saturday at 6 p. m. be continued for "an indefinite period." A majority of down town stores are in favor of extending the Saturday closing plan, he said.

Christmas closing hours would be arranged at a later date.

The earlier closing time for Saturdays was started in June. A canvass of retail stores, made before the board's action indicated that the new Saturday schedule had been successful during the past three months.

"The stores are busier during the week, and on Saturday during the daylight hours," said Lodde. "Shoppers are shopping earlier in the day and earlier in the week."

Lodde also pointed out that the earlier closing hour was in harmony with national defense principles by conserving electric and heating resources. The five-day week, which frees workers for Saturday shopping, was also cited.

Councilman Arthur L. Croak, chairman of city council's traffic committee, said that if the stores closed at 6 p. m., the committee would consider cutting the time for the operation of parking meters on Saturday from 9 to 6 p. m. The change would require revision of the parking meter ordinance.

FIGHTS RAGE AGAINST NAZIS ON 4 FRONTS

Moscow Admits Foe Breaking Through Approaches To Leningrad.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (INS) — The RAF launched a new heavy air attack against Germany and the Nazi-occupied French coast today. Scores of British planes roared out over the southeast coast in an easterly direction during the afternoon. The drone of their engines was heard unbroken for 20 minutes.

(By Associated Press)

The battle of Russia is surging toward a climax in the four principal sectors of the main Russian-German front, on the immediate approaches to Leningrad in the north, on the front west of Moscow, on the railways and highways converging on Kiev, and on the siege ring around Odessa.

The Russians said that the assault on Leningrad, now threatened on the north by victorious Finns and on the south by the Germans, had been checked but Pravda, Moscow organ of the Communist party, admitted that "the beastly, treacherous enemy is breaking through on the approaches to the city."

Inhabitants of Leningrad had turned out to build a deep, continuous defense line to meet their foe, determined, it was said, to turn the approaches into graveyards for the attackers.

Terrific fighting has started on the approaches to Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, with the Russians declaring the Germans repulsed by stiff counter-attacks. In one outlying village several German regiments were said to have sustained loss of more than 15,000 men in dead and wounded.

Somewhere on the indefinite front west of Moscow the Russians claimed their deepest counter-thrusts while the Red fleet, taking advantage of its command of the Black sea, was attempting to relieve Odessa by landing storm

Hoot Mon! Scotch Drinkers Assured Of Ohio Supply

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Those Ohioans whose tonsils are irrigated by the flow of Scotch whisky need have no fear of a shortage in their favorite brands for at least seven months, the state liquor control board revealed today.

In its monthly report, the board stated that it carried an inventory worth $3,007,350.39 of which a large share is in Scotch whiskies bought in advance of price rises.

As a result, there is such a supply on hand that no price increase will be necessary for seven months, the board reported.

July sales were reported at $4,699,700, or $1,669,728 over July of 1940. The net profit and gallonage tax accruing to the state was $1,320,349, or $553,430 over July a year ago.

CLIMAX NEARS IN BIG BATTLE OVER RUSSIA

Fighting Rages Along 4 Fronts as Soviets Admit Foes Approach Leningrad.

troops behind the German-Rumanian siege lines.

The severity of the struggle was pictured by German and Russian sources independent of the official communiques.

The Russian and German high commands matched each other today in secretiveness on the course of the war while the Finns, still comrades-in-arms of the Nazis, indicated that the defenders of Leningrad were being squeezed into a pivotal struggle for possession of that second largest city of Russia.

Said the Hitler headquarters: "Operations in the east continue successfully."

Said the Red army:

The language of the communiques, but for the fact that they frequently are silent on developments of utmost importance, might be taken to indicate that a Russian-German deadlock had been reached, that the vast battleline had been stabilized for the present at least.

Russian dispatches—not, however, with the full authority of a high command communique—insisted that the German thrust on Leningrad from the south had been checked and indicated that the Red air force and the Luftwaffe were waging a battle for control of the air over the city.

Aerial superiority in the area may dictate the fate of Leningrad, northern anchor of the main Russian-German front.

The Helsinki picture of Leningrad's position was that Finnish troops were advancing from the north, separated by 40 miles from German forces attacking in the south, with Leningrad in the approximate center of the 40-mile vise.

Tass, indicating Russian control of the air at Leningrad, said the city was exhibiting "a spirit of firm composure" and that its industries were operating normally, supply the Red army with materials necessary to defense.

Students were reported starting the fall semester at Leningrad's universities, theaters staging new productions and movie goers turning out in great numbers to see newsreels of action at the front.

The dispatch said that numerous detachments of the city guard had joined the Red army, determined to make the approaches to the city the graveyards of the Germans and Finns.

Military dispatches to Moscow on the center front action said that the Russian counter-offensive there was still being pushed aggressively, the Germans resisting fiercely but yielding locality after locality.

The Russians said that their foe resorted Tuesday to a "psychic attack"—a thrust by two companies of picked troops behind a military band—but this novelty ended in disaster.

The Germans came on "as on parade, kettle drums rolling and base drums thundering," said the Russians, but they were met by "terrific fire from our machine-guns followed by a bayonet charge. The psychic attack ended in fiasco. Both Nazi companies were annihilated."

While the German high command was virtually silent on the Russian campaign, DNB, official news agency, reported the crushing of an attempted landing from the Black sea, presumably to relieve beleaguered Odessa.

Five boatloads of Russians approached a German-held section of the coast on Tuesday but were turned back by machine-gun fire, the agency said, adding that another Russian attempt to recross the lower Dnieper river to the German-occupied west bank also had been frustrated by cross-river shellfire.

Luftwaffe blows on vital Russian communications deep within the Red army's lines were emphasized in German dispatches

Triumphantly the Finnish high command announced recapture of the entire 60-mile strip of the Karelian isthmus which Finland lost to Russia in their 1939-40 war, and declared Russian troops had been driven back everywhere beyond the old frontier.

The old Russian-Finnish border is only 20 miles from Leningrad The Germans have reported their advance forces a similar distance south of the city

Partly counter-balancing the dark picture for the Russians conjured up by this situation however, were reports from Moscow that the German push toward Leningrad had bogged down and that the Soviet air force was successfully fighting off Nazi attempts to gain control of the sky over the city.

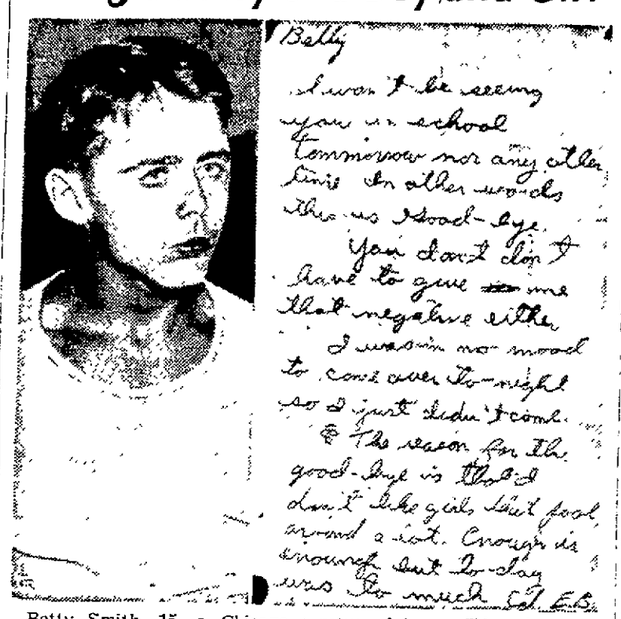
Following up an assertion yesterday that German land forces in front of Leningrad had been driven back three miles, today's early morning Soviet communique told of fierce air battles in which the Russians were said to be more than holding their own.

There was little news from either Moscow or Berlin to clarify the situation on the central front or in the south, where the Germans and Rumanians are besieging the Black sea port of Odessa and testing out a new Russian defense line on the east bank of the Dnieper river.

London reported the Finnish radio as saying German troops had captured Bryansk on the central front, some 220 miles southwest of Moscow and 150 miles northeast of Gomel, which fell to the Nazis more than a week ago. There was no immediate confirmation from other sources, however.

The air war on the British-German front was marked by a continuation of RAF night raids on the Nazi-occupied port of Brest. Only a few German bombers were reported over Britain.

Tragic Story of a Boy and Girl



Betty Smith, 15, a Chicago girl, is dead of a bullet wound inflicted by a hunting rifle in her home. Behind her tragic death authorities believe lies a story of puppy love. Betty and a friend, Edward Bearby, went to a beach to swim. Betty teased Edward, pulling his hair, throwing his clothes away. When they returned home, Edward sent a note to Betty, the note shown above. Sometime later Edward and another boy returned to Betty's home and found her dead, the hunting rifle near her. A coroner's jury returned a non-committal verdict as to whether the death was accidental or self-inflicted.

find if it would relieve the situation.

Mayor William J. Locke also attended the meeting at which the truckers explained that it was necessary to make deliveries at almost every hour of the day.

"We are trying our best to cooperate with the city," said Martin W. Brunner, temporary chairman of the trucking organization, "and will continue to do so. We also serve the public, however, and if they continue to demand service at odd hours, we must give it."

Brunner said that the truckers had promised the city authorities that they would confine deliveries to the morning and early afternoon whenever possible. Deliveries during the rush hours at noon and the late afternoon will be avoided

Boals said that merchants would be contacted in an effort to obtain their co-operation. The traffic commissioner pointed out that several of the truck drivers were delayed because merchants were slow in signing receipts for merchandise. Extra pick-ups in the afternoon, one of the merchants' practices which have clogged streets during the hours when industrial plants are releasing streams of workers, will also be discouraged

Brunner said that most of the companies have purchased smaller delivery trucks in accordance with the recommendation of the Citizens' Traffic committee, and that these had helped solve the problem of traffic flow on narrow streets.

only way Germany could be beaten is by the full cooperation of all nations which "as yet lie outside the range of the conqueror's power."

The prime minister, who spoke at a luncheon with W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian prime minister, described Canada as "the linchpin of the English-speaking world."

"Canada, with those relations of a friendly and affectionate intimacy with the United States on the one hand, and with her unswerving fidelity to the British commonwealth and motherland on the other is the link which joins together these great branches of the human family," he said.

Mackenzie King, furthering the idea of United States cooperation, suggested that the United States give Britain a guarantee similar to the one given Canada three years ago—that the United States would not stand idly by if Canadian soil were threatened by any other empire.

Reports Britain to Call Up More Men

LONDON — (AP) — The Laborite Daily Herald said today that "sweeping new plans for calling up millions of men for military service will be announced soon by the government."

No authority was quoted. Britain now has approximately 4,000,000 men under arms.

"This move is the first indication that vital new decisions on war strategy have recently been taken by the government arising out of developments on the Russian front," the Herald said.

The paper said that those principally affected would be men under 40 now in reserved occupations.

United States and Great Britain were pushing rapidly toward a goal of world domination and another gave them a comprehensive set of air raid rules.

The foreign-office diplomatic Review said British-American intention to dominate the world became clear after the Atlantic meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

"The intention of the British and Americans is to burn up and exhaust Japan's natural resources and to threaten Japan by both economic and military pressure," the Review's editorial said. "The United States and Great Britain are strengthening aid to the Soviet, are putting pressure on Thailand and are urging the Netherlands East Indies and Australia to tighten the encirclement of Japan."

Attention to the use of Vladivostok as an entry port for material aid to Russia continued to be emphasized.

The cabinet information board's weekly report told home owners today not to pay attention to wild rumors concerning possible air raids on Japan. The report asserted that so long as the imperial navy and army functioned it was unthinkable that Japanese cities could be subjected to air assaults similar to those delivered against Chungking and London.

Nevertheless, the report gave its readers advice on methods to combat incendiary bombs.

Japan Told to Quit Axis for Peace

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States government, reliable sources in Washington disclosed today, has told Japan, in effect, that it must quit the Axis alliance and alter its present policy of aggressive expansion in Asia, if it wants a general understanding with this country in the Pacific.

This represents the American government's answer to Japan's move for an improvement in relations with the United States.

The ball is now considered to be in Japan's hands. It is being left up to Tokyo to decide whether it wants to stake its future on better relations with the United States or risk a major conflict in the Pacific by continuing to play on the Axis team in the hope of sharing in the spoils.

If the Nippon empire should decide that the Axis alliance is the wrong side to back in the present world struggle, and providing the Japanese give concrete evidence of good faith, there is reason to believe President Roosevelt would welcome the opportunity to attend a conference to discuss a general settlement of Far Eastern problems.

SALES INCREASE

Liquor Profits Show Rise of More Than Half Million.

COLUMBUS — (U P) — Liquor sales in Ohio for the four weeks ending July 26 were up $1,669,728 over the same period last year, the department of liquor control disclosed today.

The sales for July this year were $1,699,700. The net profits and gallonage tax totaled $1,320,349, which was an increase of $553,430 over July of last year.

FUNERAL SET FOR C. C. SMITH

Rites For Mansfielder To Be Held Saturday.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday at the Wappner funeral home, for Clay C. Smith, 53, who died yesterday at his home, 275 West Dickson avenue, after a lingering illness. Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

A life-long resident of Mansfield, he conducted the C. C. Smith Laboratories for many years. He was a member of Venus Lodge 152 F. & A. M.

He is survived by his widow, Violet Ferguson Smith, and his mother, Mrs. Addie Smith, at home.

900 ON STRIKE

CIO Shipyard Workers Protest AFL Recognition.

LORAIN—(AP)—The CIO Marine and Shipbuilding Workers Union today struck at the Lorain yards of the American Shipbuilding company in protest against the company's recent recognition of the AFL as bargaining agent for all its seven Great Lakes yards.

William A. McPhillips, national representative of the CIO union, said about 900 of the yard's 1,100 employes remained away from their jobs, crippling work on anti-submarine net tenders being completed for the navy.

A company spokesman said no attempt would be made to operate until the dispute is settled.

NAZIS THREATEN FIGHT IN IRAN

Armed German Issue Challenge From Legation Compound.

TEHERAN, Iran—(Delayed)—(AP)—More than 700 well-armed Germans inside the thick-walled compound of the German legation at suburban Shemgan threatened bitter resistance today against any attempt to seize them "contrary to international law."

Iranian police, acting at British-Russian suggestion, forbade the Germans to leave the compound after the Allies received reports that they planned to take refuge in the Turkish legation to prevent internment in Russia or India

Turkish quarters denied they had consented to use of the legation, saying explicit instructions from Ankara were to avoid any controversy which might harm Turkey's foreign relations.

alty for the charges on which they are held is 20 years in prison.

In Miami, Fla., a fourth reputed aid of Ludwig's, Karl Herman Schroetter, 49-year-old Swiss-born naturalized American, waived extradition to New York. He is being held under a $25,000 bond.

A dramatic account of how Ludwig tried frantically to shake off FBI agents came today from U. S. District Attorney Lyle Keith in Spokane, Wash. He said the 38-year-old Ohioan, fleeing from the east, traveled by automobile and was trailed constantly by FBI agents.

"When he arrived at Butte, Mont., he became suspicious that he was being trailed," Keith related. "He stopped his car in a garage there, stopped at a hotel and the next morning abandoned his car to take a bus. He had purchased a ticket to Cle Elum, but he failed to shake the FBI officers, one of whom was on the bus with him.

"He arrived in Spokane by bus and tried again to shake the officers who were trailing him. He was followed all over town before he registered in an obscure hotel."

The next morning he resumed his bus trip and was nabbed by officers as he stepped off at Cle Elum.

"Code messages used by Ludwig were written in secret solution on the backs of what appeared to be innocent typewritten letters," Keith said. "These letters were mailed to Spain and Portugal.

"He sent out amazing detail on the disbursement of our armed forces, on the departure of vessels loaded with planes bound for various parts of the world." He also furnished information on munition shipments, giving detailed description of ships' armaments and their appearances, Keith added.

In addition to yesterday's indictment, Ludwig was charged earlier with transmitting military information to foreign countries. Keith said this charge could bring a 20-year penitentiary sentence on conviction.

He was taken prisoner with his detachment, July 14, 1918, and stationed at a French village for two months cleaning up the debris of French bombardment. He remained a prisoner of war until Dec. 9, 1918, and later was at Vichy recovering from effects of gas poisoning. He was honorably discharged in April, 1919.

Installation of new officers is scheduled for October. The dinner served last night was prepared by the Legion auxiliary which joins the post in a picnic next Wednesday night at the R. B. Gardner farm.

tonight and Friday, the weatherman said. It will be cloudy and continued warm with thunder storms probable tomorrow, the forecast said.

The storm broke about 7 p. m. after an 86-degree temperature reading and excessive humidity made the afternoon uncomfortable for Mansfielders. The mercury dropped to 68 after the storm, but it had climbed back to 75 by noon today.

The downpour flooded the Park avenue east subway and low places in streets and roads when sewers were overtaxed. Several basements in the city were flooded, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said. He added, however, that fewer complaints about flooded basements were received than during previous heavy rains, probably because less roof water is being turned into storm sewers and larger sewers have been placed in service in parts of the city.

Residents of the southwest section of the city said they heard a large plane flying low over their homes at the peak of the storm, apparently seeking a landing field. There was no report of the plane landing in this area, however, according to employes at the Mansfield airport.

RICHMAN BROTHERS ANNOUNCE NO CHANGE IN PRICE IN FALL 1941 CLOTHES

For many years. Richman Brothers Standard Quality Clothes have been $22.50. That price still stands. And so does the standard of quality that made these clothes famous.

During the past two years we've presented a line of Super Quality Clothes at $27.50. That price, too, remains unchanged. Due to increased demand. however. we've greatly enlarged the selection and improved the quality.

Whichever you prefer . . . the Standard Quality Line at $22.50, or the Super Quality Line at $27.50 . . . this is certain: Richman Brothers Clothes are your defense against high prices.

Student Suits are still $16.95; and extra trousers are the same old price, $3.95.

ASHLANDER TO BE ORDAINED AT CONFERENCE

Services To Be Held Friday at Concluding Session of Brethren Church.

ASHLAND—Weldon E. Fulmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fulmer, 800 Elm street, Ashland, will be one of the two ministers to be ordained Friday evening at the East Ohio conference of the United Brethren churches, which is in session here.

Morris E. Allton of New Rumley, O., is the other minister who will be ordained.

Born in Nova, Fulmer has been a resident of Ashland for a number of years. He attended Bonebrake Seminary at Dayton to complete his theological studies. Although he will not receive his degree until the spring of 1942, he will be ordained and assigned to a pastorate at the stationing of pastors which will be announced at the concluding conference session Friday night.

Before entering Bonebrake seminary Mr. Fulmer attended Ashland college seminary. He graduated from the college in 1938.

Since attending Bonebrake seminary, Mr. Fulmer and his wife have been living in Dayton. He has held a pastorate the past two years at the Wagner Chapel United Brethren church.

Mr. Fulmer's desire to become a minister began back in his high school days. It was while a junior at Ashland college and working part-time at the First National bank here that he made his decision to enter the field of religion. Raised in the Methodist church he transferred his affiliation to the United Brethren church.

Mr. Allton is a graduate of Otterbein college and Bonebrake seminary. While in college he served as pastor of the Ohmer Park Evangelical Reformed church in Dayton. Since his graduation he has been pastor at the United Brethren church at New Rumley, O. He is the son of a United Brethren minister.

Bishop A. R. Clippinger of Dayton will be in charge of the ordination service and will deliver the concluding sermon of the conference. His subject will be "Saving Faith."

LUCAS PASTOR RESIGNS POST

Rev. M. P. Paetznick Accepts Pastorate at Carey, Will Leave Sept. 30.

LUCAS — Announcing that he had accepted a call to become pastor of the Lutheran church at Carey, Rev. M. P. Paetznick has resigned as pastor of the Lucas and Pleasant Valley Lutheran congregations, a position he has filled since December, 1939

Rev. Paetznick presented his resignation at a special session of the joint council of the parish held in St. Paul's church here Tuesday evening. The resignation becomes effective on Sept. 30.

The Lutheran congregation at Carey is reported to have an active membership of about 450. Its church and religious educational plant is rated as one of the best in the state.

The Carey congregation has been without a pastor for several weeks following the resignation of Dr. Paul Clauser, who was called to a church in Pennsylvania

Following his graduation from Wittenberg college in 1930 and from the theological seminary at Wittenberg in 1933, Rev. Paetznick served as assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church at Shelby for about six years

Rev. Paetznick who is widely known as a leader among young people, has served a successful pastorate during his stay in Lucas and has been prominently associated with many community enterprises

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1941

A great need of the language is for a word that indicates something more important than "super."

Some of the 6-year-olds just entering school may be surprised to discover that no prizes are offered for giving the correct answer.

Europe as a 'United State'

THE Hitler-Mussolini vision of Europe as a "united state," as divulged by il duce's Milan newspaper, can impress Americans as no more than a desperate attempt to gain support from some of the downtrodden small countries of Europe for the totalitarian program of the Axis powers.

Even the title, "a united STATE," clearly evidences the intended concentration of authority in Hitler and his Nazi party, and is totally different from previous honorable aspirations to eventually bring about accord and union among European nations, with each safeguarded in its own rights and in the liberties of its people.

A "united state" accomplished by military force and such brutality as Hitler and his cohorts have practiced in the occupied countries of Europe, is far removed from the idea of unification accomplished on the basis of mutual confidence, goodwill and recognition of the rights of all people to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

From our own Declaration of Independence: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights . . . that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED . . ."

And from the Constitution of the United States: "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, AND SECURE THE BLESSINGS OF LIBERTY TO OURSELVES AND OUR POSTERITY, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Note the fine aspirations expressed in those excerpts and contrast them with the course taken during the past two years by Hitler and his associates.

Whatever agreements may eventually be reached by restored independent nations of Europe, they probably realize better than anyone else that determination of their fate dare not be left to Hitler and his ilk.

Time for New Driver's License

NEXT MONDAY will mark the start-off of issuing drivers' licenses to Ohio motorists, under provisions of the new law, which imposes some restrictions not contained in the old law.

Motorists above the age of 16 who are now properly licensed, and who have no traffic law violations noted on their present license, are not likely to encounter any difficulty in securing a new license—although, for the first time, they will be required to show their current license.

Applicants who have not previously been licensed to drive will find the procedure somewhat more difficult than in the past as a temporary instruction permit and an examination precedes issuance of a regular driver's license.

This gets away from an earlier idea that whoever could afford to have a car was capable of driving it, and may—eventually—make a worthwhile contribution to highway safety, after more of the present careless, reckless, incompetent and drunken drivers have been weeded out.

Examinations will include tests of the applicant's knowledge of motor vehicle laws, physical fitness, ability to understand traffic control devices, and demonstration of ability to exercise ordinary care and reasonable control of a car under conditions likely to be encountered on streets and highways.

As heretofore, motorists will find it an advantage to secure their new license in the early days of the period during which they will be issued—remembering that September 30 is the final day for use of the old license, and that there will be the customary rush on the last few days.

Blood Ready for Transfusion

THE terrors of war, bad enough at best, are modified in surprising ways by scientific procedure. Troops nowadays are not only immunized against cholera and other traditional army diseases, but they carry with them, along with their emergency rations, modern medical and surgical kits with which they may treat themselves, or each other, when wounded.

Special progress has been made in saving soldiers from bleeding to death on the battlefield. Death may often be prevented by blood transfusion. It is generally most successful when the wounded man's own blood is used.

This can be done not only by every man carrying in his knapsack a vial of his blood serum; but according to experiments made in Louisiana State university and the University of Toronto, the blood serum can be dried and, dissolved in a little sterile water, can be readily used by its owner on the battlefield. The powder will not deteriorate and similar procedure can be used in civil life as well as in warfare.

Boys on Horseback

THE NATION gets a breezy whiff from the Northwest in the news that two fourteen-year-old boys, Donald Rolston and John Lalander, jr., have ridden on horseback from the Grand Coulee Dam to Seattle. That is a distance of 258 miles.

The trip took 11 days, making an average of 23 and a half miles a day. That's fast enough for either boys or horses. They camped out at night, usually in the woods. They avoided paved highways, because it was pleasanter for them and easier for the horses. Many boys will envy them the ride.

Dangerous One-Eyed Hats

THE PHILADELPHIA Medical Society is concerned professionally about women's headgear. The doctors seem to run into an unnecessary amount of automobile accident cases among their women patients. And some of the more observant ones say they can trace many of these accidents to one-eyed hats. That is, to hats turned down over one eye, so that the driver has the use of only half her normal vision.

Men have always wondered what such hats were for. They know now, anyway, what the oblique lids are not for. Safe driving requires the use of two eyes.

Love's Never Wasted

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE'S cruelly hurt . . . is having a hard fight to keep from being bitter. Perhaps, at first reckoning, you'll feel she has a right to be.

Ten years ago, she adopted a small girl. Nothing particularly bright or beautiful about her. Skinny little tyke . . . pug nose . . . freckles . . . big, frightened eyes. All knobs and knuckles. Looked like a little lost bird.

Most of us wondered what-on-earth Helen saw in the poor, wee scrap. But we didn't wonder long. For, under Helen's love, that youngster blossomed like the proverbial rose. And Helen blossomed, too. She'd had a tragic time of it. This youngster gave her a new lease on life. She went around actually starry eyed. Couldn't talk or think of anything else. Nothing was good enough for "her baby." We razzed her about it . . . warned her she'd spoil "the wonder child." But there didn't seem much real danger of it. You couldn't have asked for a sweeter kid.

Then, last year, when she'd turned fifteen, the youngster began running around with one of those crowds that find their way into every neighborhood. Nothing really bad about them . . . just cheap and silly with trashy standards. But you know how that affects half-baked kids.

Helen couldn't believe it at first . . . her darling trailing tramps like that! But she's had to face it. For the girl has become a changeling since she met them . . . has become suspicious, rebellious, resentful of even the slightest discipline. Their juke joint lives appeal to her. And, as kids will, she's reveling in the martyr role. Daily the neighbors hear fresh complaints . . . fantastic tales of mistreatment. Nightly, Helen meets a sulky, sneering young face across the dinner table . . . feels her heart breaking at the unfairness of it all.

Nothing new about the story. It's happening in thousands of American homes . . . with "own" children as well as adopted ones. It's part of the general upheaval which is shaking the whole world. Hoodlumism versus Decency; Youthful Rebellion and Egotism fighting Mature Discipline. With the same reaction, nine times out of ten. Self-pitying youngsters . . . grabbing the spotlight. Embittered parents who think their love and sacrifice have been wasted.

BUT LOVE IS NEVER WASTED! LOVE IS THE ONE INVESTMENT IN HUMAN LIFE WHICH NEVER FAILS . . . NEVER FALLS BELOW PAR.

All other conditions change. But the value and beauty of love never changes. Those who give love . . . and those who receive it . . . are always richer for the bargain.

That doesn't mean that love won't cost plenty. And hurt a lot. But, even so, love is the wisest, bravest adventure the human heart can undertake.

As long as she lives, Helen's little girl will be the finer for the love which nourished her. As long as she lives, Helen will be the greater because she gave that love. There's bound to be a period of readjustment — that comes in every groping, growing existence. But the deep, true roots of love never die. Always, beneath the temporary blackout, they carry on. And, in the harvest time, they bear their lovely fruit.

Don't be afraid to love! Don't be bitter if love seems to fail you! Dare to love . . . dare to trust . . . dare to invest your finest self . . . as you'd dare to tackle any other wide and beautiful risk. Love's the finest gamble you can make with yourself and life.

GO ON! TAKE A CHANCE! SHOOT THE WORKS! AND — NO MATTER WHAT HAPPENS —BE GLAD YOU'VE HAD THE CHANCE!

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Sept. 4, 1921.

Continuance of hot weather resulted in extension of straw hat season beyond Sept. 1 deadline.

John F. Kramer took position as special speaker for Anti-Saloon league.

A. B. Endly and Verne Hausserman went to St. Louis to attend national convention of letter carriers.

Five-year-old Billy Todd, Sherman avenue, claimed to be city's champion tomato grower.

Miss Ruth Benninghoff and Roscoe Stull were married by Rev. L. H. Zeimer and left for Florida to make their home.

Daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McBride, 31 West Arch street.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Sept. 4, 1936.

Leo Seybold, jr., received degree of Bachelor of Science in Education and his sister, Louise, received two degrees, Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in Education, from Ohio State university.

C. M. Chatlain returned home from Columbus where he attended the state fair.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder was employed by the city board of health as assistant city-county health commissioner.

Patrolman Paul Whipp, of the Mansfield police department, was advanced to rank of lieutenant.

Mrs. Emma Forsyth, 58, died at General hospital after a short illness.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The first electric lighting plant for commercial use was started on Sept. 4, 1882. The dynamo was installed in a house on Pearl street in New York City, by Thomas Edison.

Suicides have been fewer during the first seven months of this year than in any corresponding period in the last 15 years. The fact appears in insurance statistics.

Because of world conditions generally considered a cause of universal jitters, increased suicide records might have been expected. On the contrary, it is quite possible that the mess in which the outside world is involved may distract individuals from their personal problems and induce a desire to stick around and learn the outcome.—Detroit News.

This Is Ohio

The Beaver and the Tuscarawas valleys are replete with scenic and historic interest and it is a rare village in this region that does not record at least one Indian adventure in its early history.

The great Indian trail commencing at Fort Du Quesne ran northwest to the mouth of Big Beaver, from there to the junction of the Sandy and Tuscarawas rivers at the south line of Stark county, thence on to Fort Detroit.

The region is also rich in Colonial and Revolutionary war facts. Fort Laurens, the first fort erected by the Americans within the present boundaries of Ohio, is on the Tuscarawas, one mile south of the present village of Bolivar.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"The Salt of the Earth."

As far back as the workings of the mind of man are traceable, we find that he has made much of salt.

That holy water is salted is no accident: it is a survival of the tremendous respect in which salt was held by the ancients, among whom it was a symbol of sancity.

It was natural that this should be so.

Salt had a preserving power: salt healed; salt imparted flavor to food, in fact, frequently made edible what would not be but for it: if therefore sustained life.

All of which led Homer to call salt divine; and Plato to describe it as a substance valued by the gods; and Matthew to say to those he deemed to possess qualities of supreme excellence, "Ye are the salt of the earth."

Hints on Etiquette.

When a man is walking with two women, old etiquette books told him to walk on the outside of the walk. It is permissible, however, for him to walk between them, as he can then more easily divide his attentions between them.

Farming Out Munition Contracts Brings Greatly Increased Costs

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Despite all the denials and counter-denials about an out-and-out government censorship of the press, the real inside fact is that the navy department did try strenuously to persuade congress to appropriate $796,000 for censorship.

The request for this money was made by Capt. Herbert K. Fenn, of Naval Intelligence, with the blessing of his superiors. In fact, the request for funds was transmitted officially by the assistant secretary of the navy to Senator Adams of Colorado on the senate appropriations committee. Later Capt. Fenn appeared before the committee and made a vigorous plea for funds "to deal with censoring outgoing and incoming cables and other items."

The navy even wanted to start a school to train censors.

Part of the discussion was off the record and a good bit of it was deleted from the committee's published hearings. In the end the senate appropriations committee turned the navy down. Hence the barrage of denials. There will be no censorship, at least for the time being.

No Gas Troubles.

THE SHORTAGE of gasoline in the East raises no problems in the life of Hattie Caraway, though, as ranking member of the senate commerce committee, she plays an important role in the investigation of the alleged shortage.

The motherly senator from Arkansas is one of the few members of the upper chamber who doesn't own an automobile.

Like the lowliest government clerk, Mrs. Caraway depends on street cars and buses to get to and from her office. In the morning she takes a bus near her home at upper Colorado avenue, transferring downtown to a street car which passes the senate office building. At night the process is reversed.

"I guess I'm old-fashioned," says Senator Caraway, "but I like to study the faces of people on street cars and watch the sights from the window."

When in a hurry the senator sometimes takes a taxicab, but not often.

"You see," she explains, "I live in a 60-cent cab zone."

Note—There's nothing "old-fashioned" about Senator Caraway's economic views. She has one of the most liberal voting records in the senate.

Sub-Contracting.

BY THE president's own admission, the most pressing domestic economic problem is safeguarding little business from being forced out of existence by the defense program. Concern over this was the real reason behind the drastic reorganization of the moribund OPM Defense Contract Service, which had been set up to avert this very situation.

But the little businessman isn't the only one having a tough time. His complaints are plenty justified, but there is no single cure. It is not as simple as that. There is more to the program than merely overcoming material shortages and spreading defense orders through sub-contracting.

There is also the question of cost. Defense chiefs, finally becoming sub-contracting conscious, are running up against an unexpected new headache — namely, that sub-contracting frequently means a big increase in the cost of production. Here is one example:

A company, facing heavy curtailment of its normal business, was asked to submit estimates on 30 and 50 caliber machine guns. The object was to give this plant defense work to make use of its machines and hundreds of trained workers, and also to speed up production of much-needed armament.

The company was delighted at the opportunity and submitted a bid—which was almost 100 per cent higher than the price the army was paying for these guns.

The army is now getting them for $600. The company's lowest estimate was $1,100. There was no profiteering involved. The bid was an honest figure of what it would cost the company to make the guns plus a modest profit. The wide disparity between $600 and $1,100 was due entirely to the fact that the company is not experienced in mass production methods on this type of product. With the army needing thousands of these guns, it's obvious what a 100 per cent increase in cost means in dollars and cents.

Not Isolated Case.

THIS is not an isolated case. Defense heads are running up against many like it every day. In their total aggregate they mount up to tens of millions of dollars in increased costs.

That means one of two things, if a policy of sub-contracting and spreading of defense orders is to be followed: Either less munitions, arms and other supplies, or new requests to congress for more money.

Under present world conditions, the first alternative obviously is impractical. What is needed is not less but more guns, planes, tanks and other equipment faster than they have been produced so far. The only way this can be attained is by a greater farming-out of defense work. And experience has graphically shown this is possible only at a much heavier cost than was anticipated.

OPM estimated this additional outlay at 15 per cent and provision was made for it in the last $1,723,000,000 ordnance appropriation passed by congress. But it is now clear that this fund, big as it is, actually will be far out of line with what is needed.

Farming out defense orders is vitally necessary to save little business and to get the volume of armaments needed, but it's going to run into mighty big money.

Note—Said one top army ordnance expert, "This is the price we must pay for our traditional habit of unpreparedness—for not even having a war industry of the size of even some of the smallest countries in Europe.

Bootleg Steel.

OPACS is having a hard time getting compliance with its price regulations. A new and devious practice has developed, which is the 1941 defense version of bootlegging.

The Henderson office issues a price ceiling on aluminum, and another on scrap iron. The majority of dealers comply with these price regulations, but a non-conformist minority circumvents the order.

Favorite practice is to deliver a grade of the material inferior to the grade specified in the contract. The buyer and the seller have a private oral agreement that the grade of scrap iron, for example, shall be inferior, but the bill of sale calls for high grade scrap, and the price to be paid is the proper price for high grade.

The buyer needs the material bad enough to pay the bootleg price, and the dealer gets his outlaw price, without any records to prove it.

OPACS admits that bootlegging is a threat to the entire price-fixing effort, since there is no statutory power to enforce compliance. All they can do, when they hear of such cases, is to call the offender on the telephone and get tough with him.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Here's a phase of river life in Manhattan that goes on untouched by time or by the shifting tides of war, revolution, changes in jazz styles or hat styles.

Broadway can migrate to 52nd street and Shirley Temple can grow to womanhood but the old Hudson River Day Line steamers with their churning paddlewheels apparently go on forever, unchanging and uncaring.

It has been so for 115 years—since 1826—when old Abram Van Santvoord founded the line. Today, just as yesterday and a century of other yesterdays, these liners leave from 42nd street. . . . They go up the river for 150 miles. . . . The kids in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, and Albany know them by sight and by name. There are farmers along the banks of this river who have spent a lifetime watching them drift past the river towns.

These days, it is a daily event, an excursion, and it will continue until mid-September. There is dancing and dining aboard. One "regular" goes aboard every Sunday morning with his two dogs for the ride. One man spent his entire two weeks vacation making the round-trip between New York and Albany. The line today is managed by the founder's great grandson, Alfred Van Santvoord Olcott. . . .

FOR our times-do-change dept.: Seven years ago this corner noted—"Maxine Elliott, for whom one of Broadway's theaters is named, visited New York recently, but she spends most of her time at her Chateau de L'Horizon at Cannes, a startling gray structure of African architecture which was saved from destruction by fire recently when British sailors in the harbor formed an impromptu fire brigade."

This column also mentioned Marguerite Clark, the film actress, who had retired years earlier to domesticity as the wife of Harry Williams, wealthy Louisiana lumberman; and Pearl White, who began her career in films with the serial "The Perils of Pauline" back in 1919. . . . Well, Maxine is dead now, and so is Marguerite Clark and her husband, Harry Williams, and dead, too, is Pearl White. . . . Maxine's chateau no doubt still stands at Cannes, but there are no British sailors to form impromptu fire brigades now, should the need arise. . . . The British have fires of a more serious nature of their own to put out.

THE newest pigeon story, according to Joan Blaine, the radio actress, concerns the papa pigeon who habitually took a "fly" every night of his life. . . . But he was always home by 6 o'clock. One night he went out and was gone a long time. By 8 p. m. mama pigeon was walking the coop and wringing her talons. She was on the verge of hysterics when, around midnight, the old boy walked, or rather staggered in. He had circles under his eyes and he was out of breath.

"You see, dear," he explained, "I flew to Newark, and it was such a lovely day I decided to walk back."

A Farmer's Diary

Soy Beans

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN JUNE, 1913, I planted five acres of soy beans; drilled them in rows two feet apart and worked them with a two-horse cultivator after taking the large outside shovel off each gang. I sowed a bushel and a half to the acre, but had no idea how much of a yield to expect. They were an experiment and I hoped to sell seed to my neighbors.

One day cattle in an adjacent pasture broke down the fence and ravenously sampled the new feed. It turned out to be a blessing in disguise for every farmer who saw how well the stock enjoyed it, bought some of the seed the following spring. People came for miles to see this field, photographed it and took samples along. Some pulled stalks out of root and were surprised to see nitrogen-fixing nodules the size of corn grains clinging to the crotches like plump grayish fruits. No other legume had these precious cells in such abundance.

That was 28 years ago. The humble soys have steadily grown in popularity. 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' Now every self-respecting farmer raises beans and plants them permanently in his rotation.

"MY PAP used to say a fellow couldn't have his gingerbread and eat it too," remarked one farmer to another. "But when I started planting soy beans I found out Pap was wrong. I can hay a field and those nodules on the roots keep the soil as fertile as when I drilled 'em in the spring. Soy beans are like good citizens—they enrich the community where they live and make the whole neighborhood more prosperous."

"And did you see what Henry Ford is up to now?"

"Why yes—looks like 'fore long we may be hopping from one farm to another in midget airplanes and harvesting with combines all produced from plastics made from soy beans and other field grown crops. Won't that put joy in life for farmers, though—and give 'em markets! It's wonderful what advances farming's making—all in our time!"

"Ain't it the truth! War ain't the only thing that's gone streamlined. The farm front is the biggest front there is and tractors will outlast tanks, you'll see. Ford with his experts and his big imagination has done for soy beans in the north what George Washington Carver did for peanuts in the south."

I STOPPED today along a stream beside a dark green field of soy beans, even and tall. I watched the farmer who owned it walk down across, waist deep in matted growth. Each small branch held up three soft green leaves that seemed to wave triumphantly in the breeze. An odor of thrifty, beany growth emanated from the borders of the field. Slanting sun rays sifted through the braided tops and lost themselves. It was a lovely sight.

My farmer friend came back. "Think I'll keep 'em for seed," he grinned. "It's pretty sure we'll all want to plant more soy beans."

DUTCH IN EAST EYE JAPANESE CHESS BOARD

People Realize the Dangers And Are Prepared To Stand Firm.

BATAVIA, Java —(U.P.)— Recent events in the Far East have produced repercussions in the Netherlands East Indies unrivaled since the German invasion of Holland.

Previously the Dutch press and general opinion could have been labelled "mild" toward Japan, but since Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's startling statement questioning whether the Dutch government in London held full power of administration over the East Indies, a new attitude of determination has become evident.

The average Dutchman realizes that danger to the north has not become a thing of the past, though at present the situation appears fairly calm on the surface.

"We believe the day is coming—and soon—when we will have to defend our birthright here in the Indies," say many prominent Dutchmen throughout the archipelago.

The Dutch and native press, taking their cue from public feelings everywhere, have adopted a rigorous platform of frank expression concerning Japanese policies in China and the mediation conferences held in Tokyo between French Indo-China and Thailand.

The Netherlands Indian paper Locomotief commented: "The Netherlands Indies holds the same objections to a Japanese drive southward as Britain and the United States. If Japan became Singapore's neighbor through the mediation in progress in Tokyo we should consider this highly dangerous in every sense of the word."

Business men from Batavia, who have been ordered home by their concerns have remarked upon how flagrantly the Japanese press derides the Netherlands East Indies. Another situation arousing considerable attention of Dutch visitors to Nippon has been reports that Tokyo's German embassy now has a staff of more than 30.

Japan's movements everywhere are being closely watched by the Dutch government here, and although most authoritative sources believe that trouble is not as imminent as it was a few weeks ago, few think that the Indies have been left out of Japanese plans for the future.

WOMAN HELD IN STABBING CASE

Wife of General, Knifed While Making Sandwich, Questioned.

LOS ANGELES —(U.P.)— Mrs. Marie M. Tucker, 39, whose husband, Maj. George A. Tucker, was supposed to have stabbed himself making a sandwich, was held today on suspicion of having murdered him.

She said she was innocent and had "loved him fervently" for 17 years.

Major Tucker, an artillery officer at Fort MacArthur, Cal., died 12 days after he was stabbed at the end of a cocktail party at his San Pedro home on July 1. Police, unsatisfied with the army explanation that he stabbed himself seven inches deep while making a ham sandwich, started an investigation.

Maneuvers Are Amusing: 1

Eyes Have It In This Man's Army

By JOHN GROVER
(AP Feature Service Writer)

CAMP BLANDING, Fla.—The 62nd brigade column, U. S. army, rolls west, poking its motorized nose into a test tube 1,000 miles long.

It's under military microscopes every mile. Brass hats cock critical eyes on it, checking the progress of a vital experiment—forging an army from an untrained mass of citizens.

This is military chemistry on a cross-country scale, shaking up men and machines with mud and dust and heat to find flaws in the army amalgam.

The 62nd is a typical outfit, a cross-section of your new army. Its selectees and National Guardsmen have been training since November—grammar and high school stuff. The September maneuvers are "college." What happens to the 62nd is happening to 500,000 other soldiers en route to the Louisiana war games.

Take a close look at this typical unit for a better idea of our army.

Taking a look at the army is the army's own favorite sport. Boy, do they inspect 'em. A double-check is just a casual glance. After quadruple, quintuple and umpteen-multiple inspections, a soldier envies goldfish all that privacy.

That 1,000-mile trip begins with inspection. Captains check every man and every pack. They even check extra socks and soap. No required item is overlooked.

I ride with Maj. Ken Miller of brigade staff. Officers have regular IP's—inspection points—to scrutinize the moving column. They note such details as conduct of men, condition of uniforms, speed and spacing of trucks, a hundred others.

The 31st division, the 62nd brigade's boss, has an inspector along to make an independent check. The VIII corps gives the double-O to the division. Third Army, topping the corps, checks the checkers checking the checkers. Third army in turn runs the gauntlet of GHQ inspection.

Maj. Miller notes some men are wearing smart field caps—girls like 'em better—instead of "dodoes" (work hats) as ordered. Somebody will get "reamed" (bawled out) when the report goes in. He jots down the number of a truck with its canvas cover sloppily fastened. Even the rookie who sneaked his shoes off for a quiet snooze en route is spotted. It's unmilitary, makes a bad impression.

The major checks speed and spacing with a stop watch. Trucks should stay twice as many yards apart as the speedometer shows—60 yards at 30 m. p. h. In perfect formation, ten trucks a minute pass a given point. Maj. Miller notes sloppy driving in his "heli book."

These reports go to unit commanders, are relayed to sergeants, who single out the culprits for "reaming" or extra duty.

The system gets results. These kids nine months away from plows and factories and desks wheel $3,000,000 worth of mechanized equipment along on split-minute schedule. Even when a truck is disabled in a crash at a small-town traffic light the column doesn't lose a minute. A "nurse" speeds ahead for an "elephant." (A motorcycle rider tailing the column to spot trouble brings back a repair truck.)

The men get ten minutes rest every two hours. Marching sitting down doesn't tire the feet like old-style hoofing. About a yard north of the ankles gets tired, though. It's a relief to get a furlough from wooden seats.

A sign flashes: "Thomasville city limits." The column hits its objective on the nose, less than a minute off schedule. Military police steer them to the bivouac area. It's already neatly laid out by the advance officer. Kitchen trucks, which went ahead, have dinner ready. Camp is set up in jig time.

All these kids have done is move a city the size of Manassas, Va., 200 miles—bag, baggage, utilities, medical units and vital services—between breakfast and supper.

Says Most School Children Have Defective Teeth

PORTLAND, Ore—(INS)—Fully 95 per cent of the nation's school children have defective teeth because of a lack of proper diet, mouth hygiene and proper dental treatment, Dr. Clarence O. Simpson, radiodontics professor of Washington university, St. Louis, recently asserted.

Dr. Simpson warned the nation's parents against allowing children to eat too much candy. Declaring a limited amount of sweets may not be harmful, the professor said "the candy habit is bad for the health and the teeth." Chewing gum, however, was recommended as beneficial.

The doctor recommended as a corrective and preventive measure an annual X-ray examination of every child's teeth after the sixth birthday.

Registration at Shelby Shows Increase In Students.

SHELBY—A total of 1,435 students enrolled in the Shelby public schools for the school term, 1941-42, Supt. C. G Keck disclosed today, an increase of 67 students over the opening registration of last year.

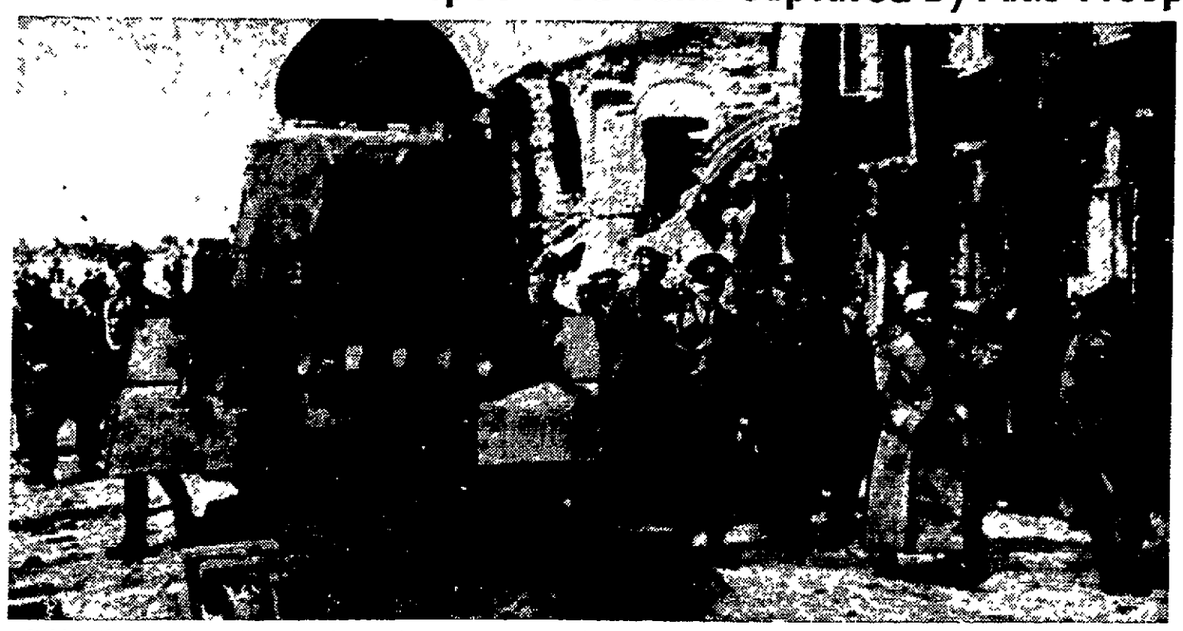
Registration at the high school and Central grade school was 769 and 486 students, respectively, compared with 713 and 454, last year.

Hayes and Grant grade schools showed slight decreases. Enrollment at Grant school was 96 as compared with 100 a year ago, while Hayes reported a drop to 84 from 101.

ANTICS MYSTERIOUS

PUEBLO, Colo.—(U P.)—The actions of a prowler who broke into his home last week has Cecil Waldon completely baffled. The intruder ransacked dresser drawers, looked through a trunk, burned some papers on the kitchen floor, ate a piece of cake and stole four pennies.

Hitler and Mussolini Inspect Red Tank Captured By Axis Troops



Taking time out from their five-day conference somewhere along the eastern front, Hitler and Mussolini inspected a war-torn Russian village and are shown as they paused to look at a captured Soviet tank. Left to right, Hitler, Field Marshal Keitel, Mussolini and Field Marshal von Kluge Moscow reports that heavy rains and fierce counterattacks have halted the Nazis.

STRICT PENALTIES PROVIDED UNDER NEW OHIO TRAFFIC LAW

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of stories explaining highlights of the new state traffic code.)

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Imprisonment for one to 20 years is the most severe penalty prescribed for violators under the new state uniform traffic code effective last Saturday.

That is for a second-degree manslaughter conviction for killing a person "unlawfully and unintentionally" while violating any law applying to the use or regulation of traffic.

The minimum sentence for conviction on a second-degree manslaughter charge is a fine up to $500 or jail or workhouse imprisonment for 30 days to six months or both.

Most other violations are punishable by fines up to $50 for first offense; for a second offense within one year and a fine of $10 to $100, or jail or workhouse sentence up to 10 days or both; and for third and subsequent offenses within a year, a fine or $25 to $200, or jail or workhouse sentence up to 30 days, or both.

An additional five days' jail or workhouse sentence may be given for a first offense for driving faster than 35 miles an hour in the business district of a corporation, or faster than 50 miles an hour in other portions of a municipality, or faster than 25 miles in passing a school house when the children are outside.

Interference with an officer in attempting to enforce the traffic code, subjects the offender to a fine of $10 to $50.

FACE PENALTY

MT. GILEAD — Collection of Morrow county real estate taxes for the second half of 1940 closed recently and a 10 per cent penalty will now be added to all unpaid taxes, W. A. Piper, Morrow county treasurer, said.

Approximately 95 per cent of the total half-year charge of $122,000 was paid before the books closed, Piper reported.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!
Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.
The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.
Low blood count oft times may mean you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.
Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles when they have been weakened by simple anaemia. Then with your blood toned up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today 49c.

CHAPTER XXII

The tragedy of the loss of the school was overshadowed completely by the way April hung on for days, struggling between life and death. Finally, after two weeks she took a sudden turn for the better, and the danger was past. Hill gave two more blood transfusions before the tide turned.

Because Hill was afraid that seeing him might upset April, he stayed away from her room when she was able to spend a few moments with her family and friends. Gay made certain Hill was not to be at the hospital when Curt sat for a little time by April's side. She was out of the oxygen tent, lying swathed in bandages on her head.

The fourteenth floor of the hospital was like a conservatory it was so filled with flowers from April's fans. Only a few flowers were permitted in her room, because she needed the oxygen. The others were distributed among the other patients, and in the children's ward. Cherry had taken bundles of letters and wires home for April to read when she was well enough.

April seemed too ill to worry about her radio program, or what was to become of her career. But she smiled faintly when Cherry and Gay told her that all her fans were saying prayers for her, and that she had received hundreds of bouquets of flowers from men, women and children who missed her lovely voice singing the old songs they loved.

Gay was faced with the problem of finding a job. Because of the uncertainty of show business, she had no desire to go back to dancing. There wasn't a chance that the school would reopen. She had no money with which to buy equipment. And unfortunately, there was no insurance to cover the loss by fire.

A few evenings after the fire Curt called Gay and invited her to come out to Pennyhaven for dinner.

"Mike will come for you," he told Gay, "at seven. I want to talk with you."

It would be pleasant relaxation to dine at the lovely colonial house with Curt and his charming little daughter, Gay thought She dressed most becomingly in a soft green net dinner gown matching her soft green eyes. She was tall and stately and very beautiful as Curt greeted her at the door. Penny was with him. She cried happily:

"Oh, Daddy, isn't she beautiful? Could I dye my hair red when I grow up, Daddy?"

Curt laughed: "Pink if you like, darling. Or sky blue."

The trio went into the library to await dinner, and a butler served cocktails. Curt said, smiling:

"I suppose you wonder what I want to talk with you about. Penny and I have a business proposition to make you."

"A business proposition?" Gay raised her brows.

Penny jumped from her chair and went close to where Gay sat on a divan in front of the fireplace. She put her arms around Gay's waist and begged childishly:

"Say you'll do what we want you to do, Miss Lorraine, promise."

Gay smiled "What do you want me to do, darling? I'm sure if it will make you happy I'd love to do it. What is it?"

Curt said: "You may ask her Penny."

The child took her arms from around Gay's waist and sat down on the floor, looking up into Gay's face worshipfully.

"We want you to come here to live with me."

Gay said blankly. "Live with you?"

Penny nodded eagerly: "As my companion. Sour Puss—I mean Mrs. Seeley—is leaving. I begged Daddy to ask you to come and take her place."

Curt smiled: "It was Penny's idea. But I think it's an excellent one. I've thought for some time Penny needed a change. Someone who would be less of a disciplinarian and more of a playmate. What do you say to making a try at it, since you're job hunting?"

Gay gasped: "How marvelous! Why I'd love it, Penny. I can't think of anything in the world I'd rather do than live here at Pennyhaven with you."

Penny's eyes filled with happy tears:

"Oh, Miss Lorraine!" she raised up and gave her a rapturous hug. "Oh, I'm so happy I could die!"

Curt grinned: "Well that's settled. We'll talk business after dinner. This relieves my mind a great deal, Gay. I know Penny will be happy with you. Choosing a companion for a young girl with ideas of her own is no easy job"

Gay smoothed Penny's long black braids:

"We'll get along grand, Penny. We'll have some marvelous times."

Penny grinned happily, showing the braces on her teeth:

"You won't make me wear funny clothes and plaster my hair down like Sour Puss does, will you?"

Gay tilted her chin: "We'll make you into a raving beauty, Penny. You'll see"

"Curls?" Penny's eyes pleaded.

"Curls," Gay nodded, laughing.

Penny squealed with delight. Curt watched, smiling. Penny seemed more at ease with Gay Lorraine than she had ever seemed in her twelve years. She was a sensitive, affectionate child whose natural friendliness had been stifled by a governess who clung tenaciously to all the old rules of children being seen and not heard. A lady was a girl who made herself look so plain and forbidding that no one would dare make a friendly move in her direction, or a false one.

After dinner Curt himself drove Gay home to Douglaston in a small car, and they talked of plans for Penny's future. Once Gay said doubtfully:

"I know you planned this thing to help me, Curt. How can we be sure I've had the right training to be a proper companion for Penny?"

Curt smiled: "Just be yourself Gay, if Penny grows up to be the lady you are, that's all I ask. I don't want her brought up to be the usual idle debutante. I just want her to develop like a normal young girl, as you and April did in your homes in the South. If you make a Southern lady out of my daughter, I'll be eternally grateful to you. I've always been partial to Southern belles."

"What a lovely compliment," Gay laughed. "The Old South drops you a deep curtsy, even if you are only a darn Yankee."

Cherry decided to give up her job entirely for the time being, and stay home to care for Kenny. If Gay was going to live at Pennyhaven, she did not like the idea of Kenny being left entirely in Hyacinthe's care. April might worry, even though the old colored woman did idolize the child.

April did not quite approve of all of Hyacinthe's old fashioned methods of raising children. In a few weeks Kenny would be shamefully spoiled, for one thing. Since he could bend Hyacinthe entirely to his will with his charming Hillyer way.

Gay and Curt had never discussed the fact that April might never walk again until Gay's first night at Pennyhaven. Penny had been put to bed and Curt and Gay were talking over plans in the library. Suddenly Curt sighed:

"I had another talk with Malcolm this afternoon. He holds out no hope that April will walk."

"Oh," Gay said painfully. "I'm —sorry."

Curt got up, restlessly pacing the floor. "It's going to be difficult when she finds it out. Particularly trying to reason with her that it must make no difference in our wedding plans."

"Perhaps," Gay's chin trembled, "you can convince her she should marry you before she finds out she will never walk again."

"I'll try," Curt said. "But I doubt if she will consent. Do you think Hillyer is going to try to interfere?"

Gay shook her head: "No, I don't think so He has stayed away from her room entirely, and he still insists that everyone keep the fact that he had helped a secret."

Curt sighed: "I feel sorry for the poor devil. He looked a great deal thinner when I passed him on the street yesterday."

"He looks a wreck," Gay agreed. "You know he even borrowed money on his insurance to keep the house going, and to take care of Kenny. We certainly can't say he isn't trying to do his part now, even if it is a little late."

"Perhaps," Curt said, "in all fairness to Hillyer you should ask April if she wouldn't like to see him. It may hurt her feelings if she thinks he isn't showing any interest. Why don't you ask April if she wouldn't like to have Kenny's father bring him to see her? I believe we could get special permission from Dr. Malcolm, even though it is against the rules for children to visit the hospital."

Gay knew what coming to that decision had cost Curt De Witt. She said with tears in her throat:

"You're always so thoughtful, Curt. I will ask her when I see her tomorrow. Then I'll tell Hill April has asked that he come and bring Kenny."

Curt strode to the fire place and stood looking into the fire:

"I think that is the right thing to do. April must be very anxious to see the child. And since Hillyer is trying so hard to make amends, it's no more than fair that April should know that he is seeing Kenny and taking an interest in him"

Gay's quarters were off Penny's wing of the second floor. A living room, bedroom, dressing room and bath in green and rose. Everything that was old colonial, and she walked through the lovely rooms with a feeling of unreality after she had said good night to Curt.

It was like walking through a dream, life had changed so in the course of a few weeks. If it weren't for the fact that the staff at the school was out of jobs she could hardly regret that the Hillyer-Lorraine school of music and dancing had burned to the ground, as she gazed out the window through tall trees laden with snow to the Sound shining in the winter moonlight beyond.

In Curt De Witt's home Gay had a feeling of security she hadn't felt since she had grown up and started to earn her own living. Since she didn't intend to marry, the companionship and love of Penny De Witt would be almost like having a child of her own.

Definitely, Gay had decided, she would never marry. Not after what she had seen happen to April and so many of her other friends. Gay much preferred being an old maid companion to a young girl, than a broken hearted wife.

MANILA APPROVES TAXIS

MANILA— (U.P) —It looks as if the automobile is going to replace the horse. Although many conservatives still stoutly maintain that the horse is here to stay, motor cars must now be used as taxis instead of the horse-drawn "calesas," according to official decree of the municipal government of Manila.

HUNTERS REPRIEVED

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(U.P)—California pheasant hunters are to have four more days of sport annually than in the past—but no more pheasants. The limit for each hunter remains two per day eight for the season. But Gov. Floyd B. Olson has decreed they may spread the ecstasy of the chase over ten days instead of only six as formerly.

There is a "Cape of Good Hope" at the sea entrance to Swatow, Kwangtung province, China.

MAY COLLABORATE

DALLAS, Tex.—(U.P)—If the thieves who made raids on houses under construction here could get together they might be able to work out something. Marshall Whitley reported an electric motor used to operate a bench saw had been stolen from a house under construction and C. E. Wall reported five pieces of 15-foot plank missing.

DAMS TO GIVE WIDER WEALTH TO CALIFORNIA

Control of Three Rivers Vitalizes Dream of 1873.

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (U.P.) — Culminating years of dreaming and planning, California's great Central Valley Project embodying power, flood control and water facilities, is being rapidly developed to bring new life blood to the heart of the second largest state.

Stretching from 14,161-foot Mt. Shasta in the north to the deserts of Southern California, the project occupies the state's two major interior valleys — the Sacramento and San Joaquin. Together they form a huge inland empire between the Sierra Nevada and coast ranges. In this empire lies one-third of California's area and two-third of its rich agricultural land.

In the northern portion of the project — the Sacramento river valley—two-thirds of the state's water supply arises. The San Joaquin valley, with its millions of dollars in crops, has two-thirds of the irrigation needs. Each year most of the waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin river escape to the sea but by the expenditure of millions of dollars on the Central Valley project, engineers hope to rectify this condition.

First conceived in 1873, the history of the project has been one of years of study by succeeding engineers and commissions. When actual work was begun, the project was state sponsored. Later the federal bureau of reclamation entered the picture and only last winter President Roosevelt gave his stamp of approval of plans of Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California to make the project a government - operated enterprise similar to the Tennessee Valley authority.

Originally set up as a $170,000,000 project, plans subsequently were changed to call for expenditure of $288,000,000. And as a result of President Roosevelt's new conception of the enterprise, David E. Lilienthal, TVA director, estimated the ultimate cost would be approximately $446,000,000.

The major structure in the project, Shasta dam, will be second in height only to Boulder dam and superceded in bulk only by Grand Coulee dam. Work was started on the huge structure in September, 1938, and in May this year, when the one-millionth cubic yard of concrete was poured, it still was only one-sixth completed.

INDUSTRY ENDS EPOCHAL YEAR

Mass Production Technique By Auto Builders Turns To Needs of Defense.

(By Special News Service)

DETROIT — The motor car industry next will slowly wind up its 1941 model year. There may be some limited output of present models during the early part of August, but for the purposes of the record, the model year ends on July 31.

The chroniclers of the motor industry well may term it one of the epochal years of automobile manufacure and merchandising: it was a year that saw mass production wizardry turn out more than 5,200,000 passenger cars and trucks and at the same time get under way preparations for an armament manufacturing program without parrallel in American industrial annals.

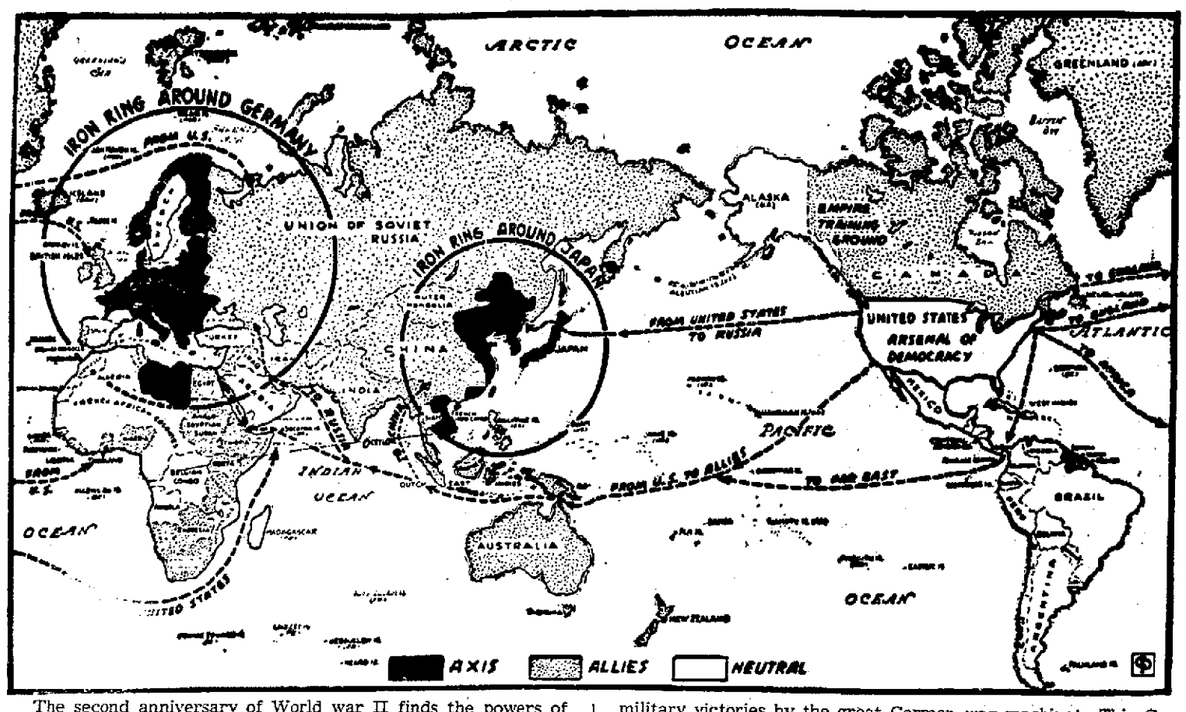
For the year ahead the production of motor vehicles for secondary undertaking; the industry may produce as many as 3,600,000 such vehicles or it may not turn out half that number; assembling of automobiles is to be subordinated definitely to the manufacture of aviation engines, bomber planes and plane parts; army tanks, anti-aircraft guns, coastal defense, shells, artillery units and scores of other items.

Contracts for these elements of the national defense already awarded to the automotive industry total about $2,000,000,000; the amount probably will be tripled before many months of the industry's new model year have passed.

The only definite thing about passenger cars and truck production next year is that the volume will depend entirely upon how much material and manpower can be spared from the manufacture of defense armament.

But don't belittle the 1942 model for eye-appeal and sturdiness. Despite the lack of new machine tools the industry has produced a 1942 vehicle incorporating just about all that could be wished for in styling plus some innovations. Long sweeping fender lines fading into front door panels have genuine appeal and give a distinctive appearance to the 1942 product.

Two Years of War Bring Encirclement of Axis Powers



The second anniversary of World war II finds the powers of the Tri-partite Axis—Germany and Italy in the west and Japan in the east—completely encircled by the forces of democracy. And this has taken place despite the amazing unbroken series of military victories by the great German war machine! This Central Press map shows how the iron rings of anti-Axis nations have isolated the Axis powers from the rest of the world, forcing them to depend on the resources of their own and conquered lands.

Neuro-Surgery Lowers Death Rate From Severe War Wounds

LONDON —(U.P.)—S oldiers from Dunkirk were taken to hospital in London with serious head wounds.

That was 12 months ago.

Today, they are back with their units. Medical science has achieved another pinnacle.

The surgeons now can treat serious head wounds — even cases of fractured skulls and injuries to the brain — which were considered uncurable, only 15 years ago.

Treatment is given at emergency hospitals of London County Council, and at other centers all over the country.

Air-raid casualties have been treated with results that are declared to be "wonderful — even spectacular."

An injured skull formerly often meant early death or disability for life. Today, hundreds of people whose skulls were injured in air-raids are walking the London streets—cured.

The success has been achieved through the hands of the neuro-surgeon.

The greatest of these surgeons is working in London. He is a tall, bearded man with the delicate hands of an artist.

A reporter who attended one of his operations said only a local anaesthetic was used. The patient, after it was all over, said it was only like having a tooth out.

Bone from some other part of the patient's body was used for grafting.

Patients are kept together in the emergency hospitals, constantly under the supervision of the neuro-surgeon in charge, a plastic surgeon whose job is to treat cases of face injury, and a general practitioner.

Most cases in the wards of the hospitals today are air-raid victims. One of them, in London, is an 11-year-old girl, Joyce Saunders.

She was hit on the head by flying debris. Yet, she is being cured.

Another London patient, Mrs. Minnie Forrest, was injured seriously in one of the first air raids. Her head is still bandaged but she is on the way to recovery.

Miss Margaret Roberts, a London dressmaker, was hit on the head by shell splinters, and her right side was paralyzed. Today, she is cured—and her hair, which was cut off for the operation, has grown again—glosy, brown curls.

Prominent Tiffin Man Recommends Bee Bee's to Anyone Suffering With Kidney Trouble

Declares that his urine didn't flow free enough and he would be called to relieve his kidneys several times each night, which disturbed his sleep greatly. Thanks Bee Bee's for giving relief.

"I had been bothered with annoying nightly risings to relieve my kidneys and my urine didn't flow freely," says Mr. Alex Cromley, 76 years of age, of R. F. D. No. 1, Tiffin, Ohio.

"If I could tell thousands of people how Bee Bee's benefited me, I would be highly satisfied. Then, many others, who might be troubled as I was, could try this grand medicine and perhaps receive similar relief."

"I used to get up seven or eight times at night and this disturbed my sleep terrible. As a result, I felt nervous and bad in the morning and I had little energy during the day. This frequent rising at night caused me lots of inconvenience and distress during the past seven years. (Since taking Bee Bee's I have to arise only two or three times at night and my sleep is sound and restful. I feel more energetic and more like myself during the day.) I had pains in my back, and my legs would get stiff if I sat around for a while. My urination was scanty, and, with my kidney and bladder distress, it seemed improved. Bee Bee's was the very medicine I needed. I will speak highly to others about the benefits I received from Bee Bee's."

OLIN-SATTLER WEDDING SOLEMNIZED ON AUG. 30

Simplicity Marked Service Read in Washington, D. C., for Miss Janet Olin of This City and George P. Sattler of Quantico, Va.

OF INTEREST HERE is the announcement of the recent marriage of Miss Janet Munro Olin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Olin, 135 Brinkerhoff avenue, and Lieut. George Philip Sattler of the Marine barracks, Quantico, Va., a former Mansfielder. The quiet ceremony was solemnized Saturday, Aug. 30, at 4:30 o'clock in the Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral, Washington, D. C. Lieut. Sattler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Sattler, 137 Parkwood boulevard.

Rev. W. Curtis Draper, jr., canon of the Washington cathedral, officiated for the double ring service. Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with baskets of roses and tall lighted white tapers. Wagner's "Bridal March" from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were played at the organ.

For her wedding Miss Olin wore a raspberry wool frock and matching jacket with black accessories. Her corsage was a Belmont gardenia. Attending the couple were Lieut. and Mrs. John B. Nordholt, jr., of Quantico, formerly of Columbus, and close friends of Mr. Sattler. Mrs. Nordholt wore a navy blue jacket frock with navy accessories.

Mrs. Sattler was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the Mansfield Business Training school. She is employed as secretary in the home building department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Lieut. Sattler was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, Ohio State university and is a second lieutenant in the Marine corps school. He will be assigned to a post upon completion of the school on Sept. 10. Before entering the Marine service he was employed as a reporter at the Mansfield News-Journal. His fraternal affiliations are with the Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Delta Chi.

Garden Club Holds Luncheon Meeting

Royal Regal Garden club members met Tuesday afternoon at the Staiger Tea Room for a one o'clock luncheon with Mrs. Dane Valentine as hostess. Luncheon was served at small tables centered with garden flowers. Places were marked with small bowls of ivy. Two guests, Mrs. Russell Haman and Mrs. Reese, were in attendance.

Following the luncheon a program was presented. Mrs. Harry Kaser gave a talk on "Planting Spring Pictures. "Choice of Evergreens for Gardens," was given by Mrs. Edward Graham. "Know Your Flowers By Their Correct Names," was given by Mrs. Harley Humphrey. The group then toured the Ohio State Reformatory gardens. Mrs. David Buesser, West First street, will be hostess for the next meeting.

Mengert Home Scene Of Pocahontas Meet

Miss Callie Mengert was hostess to members of the Past Pocahontas association Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Effie Keltner, Wayne street. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Keltner and Mrs. Hazel Stichler. Twenty members were in attendance. Mrs. Ida Crookton, president, conducted the business session.

Five hundred and bunco were diversions of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Elizabeth Konves and Mrs. Julia Grandstaff. Luncheon was served from small tables at the close of the evening. Mrs. Konves, 202 North Mulberry street, will entertain the organization at her home Oct. 1. Associate hostesses will be Mrs. Frances Wolfe and Mrs. Ann Weaver.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I am already prepared to go away from here as soon as Miss Carew arrives," I told my father with a smile. "Will it be all right if I go into the next suite where Mary is working on that code book?"

"Of course," he acquiesced heartily. "That is connected with this one by the masked door of which you have told me?"

"Yes, it is." I said. "Would you like to see it?"

"It is necessary that I inspect it," he said; "I may wish to summon you or Mary when I have talked to Miss Carew."

"Cleverly masked," was his verdict, "and it certainly served you well tonight. Wasn't that a knock upon your outer door?"

Nancy Carew Excited.

"I think so," I answered, and going directly to the door threw it open to see the eager figure of Nancy Carew, her eyes shining and youthful despite her toll of years, every line of her vibrant with excitement.

"I am glad to see you again, Miss Carew," my father said cordially, "and my daughter tells me that you have some information which may be important to me. Won't you sit down and tell me all about it?"

He drew a chair forward for her, and seated her in it with grave courtesy. She flashed a glance of inquiring appeal at me, but I was already at my bedroom door.

"If you'll excuse me for a few minutes," I said, "I'll run over and help Mary in the next suite. Just knock upon the connecting door, if you want either of us, Father."

"I'll do that," he said, conducting me to the door and bowing over my hand as if I were an empress, at the very least.

Finds Mary In Tears.

I went straight to the connecting door, rapped, and when there was no answer, pressed upon the right spot in the panel, and the door swung open to reveal an apparently empty room.

"Mary!" I called softly, but there was no answer, and with a clutch of foreboding in my heart, I went on into the bedroom, where I found Mary face downward upon the bed, choking back sobs.

"Why, Mary child!" I exclaimed, and walked toward the bed. She sprang up before I reached it and fairly flung herself upon me.

"Oh Auntie Madge," she said, "there's something wrong! I'm sure that letter from Marion is in code, but I can't make anything out of it, except that some of it is to be read directly opposite to the meaning of the words as they are written. But there isn't anything in it that I can find out which gives a single clue to where she is or what she wants us to do."

Madge's Hopes Are Dashed.

Her words "set me back upon my heels" as a blow in the face might have done. I did not realize how much I had counted upon Mary's deciphering of Marion's queer letter to Ronald, until her words dashed the hope.

I felt like flinging myself down upon the bed where she had lain, and echoing her despairing sobs. But I knew that I not only must bolster her courage, but go into action myself. So I controlled my voice and spoke with forced cheeriness.

"You're overwrought, that's all," I told her, "and you're probably taking it too much in a hurry, with the Damoclean sword of my father's well-known impatience hanging over your head.

Encourages Mary.

"Now, I'll manage him. Don't worry about that any more. Get up, dry your eyes, and dash cold water upon your face. Then come back here and let me look at your book. Two heads—you know the old adage."

"You never heard what happens when one of the heads is made of wood, did you?" she asked, as she obediently went to the bathroom to try my cold water remedy.

"But," she went on a minute later, emerging with dry eyes and glowing wet face, "that will be amply compensated when you set your head to work. Aren't you supposed to be a wizard with codes of all sorts?"

Season Tonics Are Sunshine, Fresh Food

By MME. QUI VIVE

Women who are getting on in years are willing to acknowledge that the old days weren't so good. In the winter season little girls wore underwear made of red flannel that made them itch like all get out; in the spring they had to take a terrible mixture of molasses and sulphur, supposed to have been a spring tonic.

We know now that no tonic is needed in the spring—if one has health and vitality—other than those excellent ones produced by Mother Earth and delivered to us by the grocer's boy. In no other country in the world are available such an array of delectable fruits and vegetables as grace tables of Uncle Sam's citizens. They are crammed full of vitamins, mineral salts and other food elements that are precisely and exactly what the digestive works need to go on clicking.

Spring fever comes in the first warm days and brings a sense of laziness and lassitude, and there's a reason for it. During the winter season we don't have enough sunshine and fresh air. With out comfortable living conditions — not having to chop wood or draw water as did our forefathers—our muscles are not sufficinetly active. Many of us who are pretty hot house plants, hibernate in the winter because we hate cold winds and bad weather, are in special need of pepping-upping.

Practically all the leafy vegetables contain mineral salts. Children need them because without them and calcium, which is in milk, bones do not develop properly. They're a wonderful help to nervous, tired women. Yes, and to women who nag, not because they are ill-natured always but because they are suffering from some diet deficiency and feel wretched. There is a wide choice: spinach, cabbage, beet tops, dandelion greens, chard, mustard tops. Once a day a raw vegetable should be included on the family menu—lettuce, endive, tomatoes, chickory, raw onions, romaine, celery or raw carrots. They are complexion beautifiers because of their action upon the intestinal tract and the blood streams.

If you limit your intake of chow to meat, bread, potatoes and pastries, you are insulting your stomach and imperiling the fine texture of your skin. Meat is necessary, but the diet should be varied.

Rhubarb and apples, either raw or cooked, are good foods for young people who are afflicted with acne, should take the place of pastries, which excite the sebaceous glands. Oranges, lemons and grapefruit will often act as bleaching agents, clear up a sallow skin.

Tomato juice is palatable and it is good for a lot of things that might ail one. What a girl puts into her tummy has more to do with the improvement of her complexion than what she puts on her face.

DELANO LODGE.

Members of the Delano lodge auxiliary held their regular business meeting Wednesday evening at the lodge hall. Mrs. Bessie Ricks, president, conducted the business session at which time Mrs. Laura Baughman and Mrs. Mary Somers were named honorary members. Cards were played and prizes won by Mrs. Janet Hamilton, Mrs. Mary Gerhart, and Mrs. Ricks. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting at small tables decorated with garden flowers. The next meeting will be held Sept. 16 at the lodge hall.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN SLIPS COUNT MOST

Errors of the very simplest nature are usually the most costly. Such things as covering an honor which should not be covered, or not covering one which should be, or the lead of the wrong suit, or the wrong card of a suit—those basic things can cause loss of control of the hand and pass it over to the other side. Sometimes such a single mistake can mean the difference of four or five tricks in the subsequent play.

	♠ A Q 7 5 3 ♥ 5 3 2 ♦ K 6 ♣ Q J 5
♠ K 9 4 ♥ Q 4 ♦ J 8 5 4 2 ♣ 8 7 6	W. E. N. S.	♠ 10 8 2 ♥ 10 7 6 ♦ Q 9 7 ♣ A K 4 2
	♠ J 6 ♥ A K J 9 8 ♦ A 10 3 ♣ 10 9 3

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 NT

That was terrifically bad bidding by North, who should have given a single heart raise, with his three cards, after hearing the suit rebid, and South should have lifted that then to 4-Hearts. But North "felt lucky," he explained later, and his hunch was justified by results.

East led the club 2, the 9 winning. The spade J was then led, and West refused to cover, the J winning. The Q was finessed, the A dropped the K, and an extra trick was now in sight, with five tricks in spades, two in diamonds, two in hearts and one in clubs. So of course the heart finesse was not tried. As a consequence, the Q was luckily dropped and the whole suit run, giving the side all 13 tricks.

Just notice what would have happened to North if West had properly covered the spade J, in the hope that his partner had the 10. That would have limited him to two immediate tricks in spades, if he won it with his A, as he said he would have, since he had a nice heart finesse to try. That would have lost to the Q, and three clubs would have set the contract.

Of course, if North had been willing to give up a spade and take four tricks in the suit, the defenders were marked as probably able to score only three finesse would have been needed to take nine tricks — four in spades, two in diamonds, two in hearts and one in clubs. But North was "sure as shooting" that he would have tried the heart finesse if he had not got away with the spade suit through West's error.

	♠ K J 10 7 ♥ 4 ♦ 7 ♣ A K Q 10 6 5 3
♠ 2 ♥ A 10 5 3 2 ♦ 9 8 3 ♣ 9 8 7 4	W. E. N. S.	♠ A Q 6 ♥ Q J 9 ♦ A Q J 6 5 ♣ J 2
	♠ 9 8 5 4 3 ♥ K 8 7 6 ♦ K 10 4 2 ♣ None

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

If North bids 1-Club on this deal, East doubles, South bids 1-Spade, West 2-Hearts, North 4-Spades and East doubles, what is the correct defense?

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, September 5.

The lure of pleasure, social indulgence or cultural preoccupations is likely to overshadow all practical or commonplace activities on this day, according to the mutual configurations. This may incite the ire or opposition of employers, superiors or others interested in more wordly progress. Yet the mind should find impetus to creative forms in writings, arts, romantic or fictional expression, or the social, emotional or sentimental yearnings may be directed into fruitful and lucrative channels.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which it will be difficult to give expression to its higher creative urges because of yielding to the lures of social, romantic and domestic joys and festivities rather than to constructive efforts of material nature, thus inciting antagonism of employers or superiors. Literary talents may turn to romantic or mystical forms, as inspiration, imagination and intuition are highly stimulated.

A child born on this day should have rare talents of a creative trend in mystery, fiction or poetic expression, although it may be swayed by overwhelming enticements of a social, domestic or sentimental nature.

¼ cp. shortening	4 tsps. baking powder
½ cp. sugar	¼ tsp. salt
2 cps. sifted flour	⅔ cp. milk
	2 eggs beaten

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy, then add eggs, and mix well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with milk and creamed mixture. Pour into shallow pan or hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cut crust into squares and break apart to serve.

When buying household gloves, select those at least a size larger than you usually wear so that the gloves will slip on and off easily.

Bananas are ripe enough to use, served alone or with other foods, when the yellow peel is flecked with brown spots.

To remove the odor of fish from the hands, rub with salt and wash in warm water, then wash well in hot, soapy water.

Decline Revealed In Labor Demand In Mansfield Area

A slight decline in the demand for workers in business and industry in the Mansfield area during July is reflected in the monthly report of the Mansfield Employment Security center which placed 223 persons on jobs during the month as compared with 310 in June.

Placements, however, were far ahead of July last year when 112 persons found jobs through the state agency, according to Manager C. W. Handley.

New claim for unemployment compensation benefits gained 22 per cent in July, increasing from 109 in June to 133 in July, Handley said. Benefits paid in July in the Mansfield area totaled $6,072 as compared with $6,823 in June.

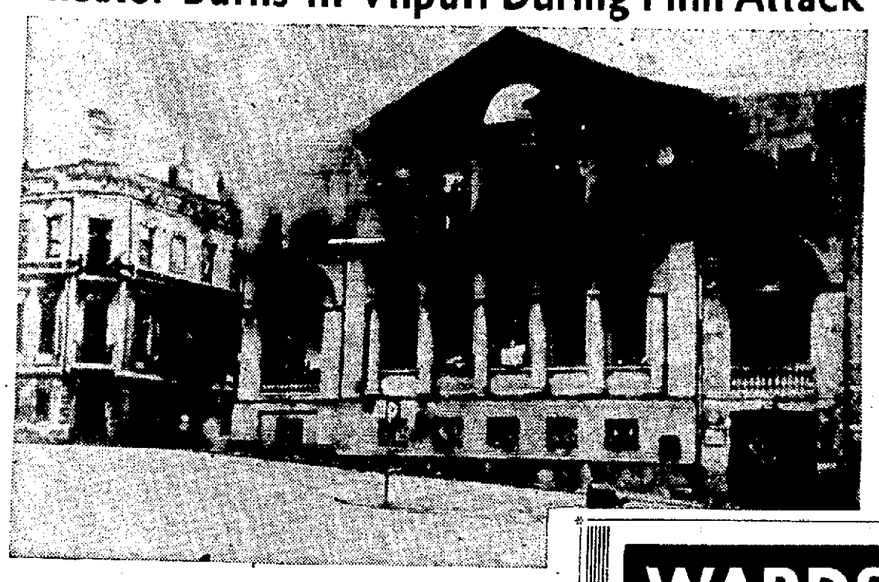
Unemployment compensation benefits paid in Ohio during July dropped to $695,214 for the lowest monthly figure since the benefit payments were started in 1939, the report showed.

HEAR OF DEATH

GALION—Relatives here have received word of the death of Mrs. Bessie Post, at Riverside, Calif. Funeral services will be held Friday.

Surviving in this vicinity are a sister-in-law, Mrs. P. M. Watt, Bucyrus road, who received the message; two brothers, Jesse Rinehart of Route 3, Galion, and Homer Rinehart of Cardington; a nephew and nieces of Galion. Three children and another brother, Frank Rinehart, all live in California. Mrs. Post was the daughter of the late Frank and Lucinda Rinehart of near Blooming Grove.

Theater Burns In Viipuri During Finn Attack



A large theater is pictured burning in Viipuri, the second largest city in Finland before it was ceded to Russia following the Red-Finnish war. The picture, a radiophoto from Berlin, purportedly was taken during the Finnish attack on the city. Cause of the fire was unknown.

HIGHLY MOTORIZED

FORT CUSTER, Mich. — (U.P.) — Evidence that this military post is one of the most highly motorized is taken from a recent survey. Nineteen horses were found on the Fort grounds. They are used by high-ranking officers in making inspection tours and for an occasional canter.

The most important new industrial center in Asiatic Russia is in the Kusnetz basin, adjacent to vast iron deposits.

Camp Band Gets Up Early But It Finds Army Gone

CAMP CLAIBORNE, La.—(INS)—The band got up quite bright and early, as was its habit, yawned and marched down the regimental street to wake the 164th Infantry. As he marched ahead of his men, Sergeant Bob Sanders noted a strange quietness, almost sinister, for ordinarily the members of the 164th stuck their heads out of their tents and yelled in a derogatory manner at the bandsmen.

Baffled, the sergeant inquired, only to be informed that the 164th Infantry had left an hour earlier on a surprise maneuver. Only one company of the 164th remained behind. That was the service company.

Not to be cheated out of their daily chore, which they dearly love, the band fell into formation, tuned up again and blasted the service company from its bunks in short order.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

You'll want to get a lustrous, softly curled DeMilo permanent.

ANNUAL STREET FESTIVAL AT SHELBY OPENS

Features More Than 1,000 Farm Produce Displays, Free Entertainment.

SHELBY—Annual Shelby Community street fair got underway here Tuesday night but the attendance was held down because of the rainy weather.

Free acts were not given on the fair program due to the inclement weather.

Some 50 concessions, rides and shows have been placed on Main street to make up the midway.

More than 1,000 individual exhibits have been placed in the farm produce displays along Main street between High School avenue and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing and in downtown buildings.

Superintendents and their assistants in charge of the various displays include John Swisher, farm organization; Joe Stine, individual, potatoes, corn and grain; baked and canned goods, Mrs. Charles Biglin and Mrs. Grace Holtz; art and needlework, Mrs. Earnest Stevens and Mrs. C. C. Miller; flowers, Mrs. Howard Wildman; and special premiums, James Majors.

The largest number of farm organizations ever to exhibit a display at the fair is participating this year in the farm organization display. The seven granges are Hazel Grove, Union, Shenandoah, Roseland, Plymouth and Shiloh.

The free act program will get underway at 7:30 p. m., today. Taking part on this program will be the Roberta Circus Review; the Mack family of acrobats and dancing teams and Prof. Galavanda, who will make a person taken from the audience, disappear while standing on the platform.

Officials of the fair are Fred L. Bricker, president; E. J. Lubbe, Charles Oberlin, John Swisher and Leo Shaw, vice presidents; Chester P. Monn, treasurer; Carl Wentz, secretary; H. Dale Kuhn, Grover Simpson, Mrs. Nellie Miller, Mrs. Ethel Nelson, C. A. Black, C. L. Beal, O. I. Dick, Mrs. Ethel Nelson, C. A. Black, C. L. Beal, O. I. Dick, Mrs. Earnest Stevens, Ralph Bly, C. C. Hammett, C. C. Till, George Hoffman, Mrs. Holtz, Carl Laughbaum, John Gearhart and Harry Ackley, directors.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — "Fight as though you believed that fighting would win the war tomorrow. Produce as though it would last ten years. In the meantime, do not falter in either because of any great or little triumph or defeat short of absolute victory or absolute surrender."

Johnson

That was our text in the first World war and it should be our text today. There is too much relaxation in such events as the Russian resistance this summer—too much hysteria in such happenings as the British disasters earlier this year.

In war anything may happen. In early 1916, and even as late as the autumn of 1917, the Allies thought they had Germany on the ropes. Beyond "Token" troops, they didn't want American soldiers —only American dollars and supplies.

In March 1918, with the eastern front eliminated and the Germans knocking at the doors of the English Channel, they said their backs were to the wall and begged us for "men in their undershirts." By November it was all over.

In the swift German advance to the Marne in 1914, there were plenty of military experts who said the end had come, just as in this war most of them said that the Nazis would wind up Russia in three weeks or at most three months. With every ebb and flood in this gigantic struggle, public opinion, deprived of any very dependable facts, goes up and down like a glass ball floating on the spray of a fountain.

This column hasn't approved of our intrusion into an unnecessary foreign adventure which didn't actually contribute, but really detracted from our own impregnable defense, of which it was an early and constant advocate.

But, in realism, it must recognize that, wisely or unwisely, we have underwritten this war on all fronts. We did it in the lease-lend bill, which was fully debated and passed in our best democratic traditions. We have made our bet and we must back it by playing our poker wisely and, if necessary, by using our guns.

A healthy constructive criticism of detail, based on information and experience, is necessary due to the incomprehensible blunders of some of the amateurs who have been selected to carry it out, but on the principal point of all-out, old-fashioned American efficiency in doing the part which we have elected to perform, there can be no holding back.

For our failures in preparation and production, New Deal leadership is singly and solely to blame. It was warned over and over again. It was entreated and begged to adopt a course charted by American experience which had been accepted as the model of the world, including Nazi Germany.

Stubborn, inept, bemused, it wasted precious years. There is no use in bringing that up. It is the leadership accredited by our people. It seems at last to be headed in a better direction.

Under our political system it is the only leadership for which we can hope. As it seems to me, the sole duty of an independent commentator is to support its course in general and to criticize its detail only where the facts are certain and the criticism should be helpful.

Big U. S. Oil Shipments Sent to Spain

MEET IN EFFORT TO END COAST GAS SHORTAGE

Railroad, Oil Men Confer on Rates For Transporting Fuel To East.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Representatives of the railroad and oil industries meet here today hopeful of eliminating threats of a gasoline and oil shortage along the Atlantic seaboard.

J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, told the special senate investigating committee yesterday that today's session could and should eliminate any eastern gasoline shortage by reaching an agreement for the use of some 20,000 railroad tank cars now idle.

While the railroad and oil men got together in a downtown hotel the senate investigators asked Ralph Budd, transportation expert for the government's defense organizations, to testify before them at the capital.

Chairman Maloney (D-Conn.) of the senate investigating group said Pelley's testimony yesterday concerning availability of railroad tank cars indicated that the "shortage could end in two weeks."

Pelley said that railroads could bring 200,000 additional barrels of petroleum products to the eastern seaboard daily. Senator Maloney noted that Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum coordinator, had estimated the daily shortage at 174,000 barrels.

The downtown conference centered around railroad rates for bringing in the additional gasoline and oil. Pelley said present rail rates were about six times as high as tanker ship rates, but that both railroads and owners of tank cars were willing and anxious to cooperate on reductions.

While tankers could move these products from the gulf to the east for about a half cent a gallon, Pelley said rail costs were above 3 cents.

Chairman Maloney said he would ask the oil industry group to appear before the senate inquiry on Friday, if possible.

Both Pelley and some members of the senate investigating committee were critical of a proposal to erect a huge new pipeline to carry oil from the southwestern producing fields to the Atlantic coast. The railroad official estimated that such a line would require 500,000 to 750,000 tons of steel, in high demand for other defense purposes.

Up and Down THE STREET

Word that Mark W. Wolcott, Mansfield interne at Pennsylvania University hospital in Philadelphia, tied with another interne for first place in pediatrics in the second National Medical Board examination was received here today by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Wilcott, 689 Maple street. Wolcott also ranked in the upper 15 per cent of the group in the general examinations.

Mansfield police were called out yesterday on an emergency. Neither murder nor theft or any other criminal matter prompted the call. Confiscation of a football was the reason. A group of youngsters playing football on Lexington avenue complained that a resident refused to return the ball after it had been kicked into his yard. Police persuaded the resident to return the ball and then they reported at headquarters that "everyone was left happy."

The deluge that fell over Richland county last night forced scores of persons at the Richland County Fish and Game association's corn roast at Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm to scurry to shelter shortly after the outing got under way. While Bromfield, the host, and a number of other disappointed picnickers were bemoaning the fact that the outing was ruined, John Friday, president of the association, commented solemnly, "The farmers needed the rain anyway."

Nature is playing pranks on Richland county fruit growers. A bunch of grapes taken from a vine at the S. N. Maze farm east of Mansfield has Concord blue grapes at the top of the stem and California white grapes in the lower part of the cluster. Maze said he had not grafted the vine and could offer no explanation of the mixed fruit. On the other side of town, Elmer Gillion, Mansfield R. D. 6, yesterday found an apple tree with ripe fruit and blossoms on the same branch.

EXPORTS USED TO RESTRAIN ENTRY IN WAR

State Department Sanctions Move That Supplies Minimum Need.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States is letting Spain have large quantities of petroleum products as part of an effort to prevent Spain's entrance into the war on the side of the Axis, it was learned today.

A steady stream of Spanish tankers has been calling at Port Arthur, Tex., picking up large oil and gasoline cargoes for transport to Bilbao, Santander, Bercelona and Malaga.

These oil shipments have been sanctioned by the state department.

State department officials would not discuss the oil export licenses granted Spain in recent months, but other quarters said this government is following with Spain a course similar to that which it tried, but now has abandoned temporarily, with Japan.

The export control administration has investigated and assured itself that none of the oil shipments to Spain has been diverted to Germany.

One responsible authority said: "If by helping Spain meet her minimum requirements for oil, we can keep her neutral, it is quite to the interests of Great Britain and this country that this be done.

"After all, there's little doubt here where the heart of General Franco lies. But if this country continues to let Spain have just enough petroleum products to meet the minimum requirements of her economy, it may keep her out of the war."

Oil shipments to Spain in American vessels have not been permitted for some time, necessitating the use of Spanish tankers.

The tankers which have called at Port Arthur recently are controlled by the Spanish oil monopoly, Campania Arrendataria Del Monopolio De Petroleos, S. A., of Madrid.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Maybe Hollywood wouldn't be so eager to abolish the "double-feature" if it paused to think how many of its current stars were developed in the lower halves of the bills.

Dorothy Kilgallen's column did not arrive for publication today.

George Montgomery, so "hot" at 20th now, and Mary Beth Hughes played in second-fiddle pictures which won an audience mainly on the strength of the so-called top features. Mickey Rooney rose from the B's along with Judy Garland, in the Hardy Family pictures which excelled their original bracket and became A's. Ann Sothern owes her present upsurge to her Maisies, which are being continued between Ann's current super-A assignments. There are dozens of other stars who emerged from B testing grounds to bigger things, and one shining example is Jane Withers, who has made her whole career in the B's although now they're tabbed as B-plus epics.

On the other hand, of course, the same experiments with new players could be carried on, with less tax on the time and patience of double-feature-haters, in intelligently conceived short subjects.

There's a kicker in that, too. A raw recruit, eager for any kind of break, will contribute his talents to a short gladly. A girl or boy who has been making progress in B's may get the grandiose idea that a short is a come-down in dignity. There'd have to be some broad education in the truism that a good short is better for a player than a boring B,—or an equally boring A.

Harry Carey's "Ah, Wilderness!" for the New York Theater Guild will be at a $2 top—at his insistence before he signed the contract. Harry, kept in the running and restored to the upper ranges by fan loyalty through the years, believes in an admission scale conceivably within the range of many fans even though it's necessarily higher for the "legit" than for a movie.

DIES AT AGE 82

J. F. Marlow, Retired Farmer, Succumbs; Rites Saturday.

John Franklin Marlow, 82, a retired farmer, died last evening at the Smith convalescent home on South Diamond street after a long illness. He lived at 233 South Main street.

Born Dec. 28, 1858, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Marlow, pioneer Springfield township residents. Mr. Marlow lived his entire life in the Mansfield area and was a member of the South Main Evangelical church.

Surviving are his widow, Ruth Millington Marlow; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Henry of Mansfield and Mrs. Clara McLain of Columbia City, Ind.

The body will remain at the family home until noon Saturday, to be removed then to the Finefrock funeral home where Rev. C. L. Kern will conduct funeral services at 2 p. m.

Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

COUNCIL NAMES 4-H DELEGATES

Richland Youths Will Attend Parley In Columbus Next Week.

Five delegates to attend the state 4-H club congress in Columbus next week were chosen last night by the Richland county 4-H council at a meeting at the courthouse.

Named to attend the congress were Louise Briggs, Madison township; Betty Culler, Lucas; Dorothy Auker, Lexington; Howard McFarland and Donald Stone, both of Little Washington. Mrs. R. E. Dickson, Mansfield, R. D. 1, a club advisor, will accompany the delegates.

Dorothy Fike, Madison township, and Russell Staats, Jefferson township, were chosen alternates. The congress will open Sunday and continue through Friday at Ohio State university.

NEW OHIO LAWS IN FORCE TODAY

Measures Bar 'Un-American' Parties From Ballot, Hike Compensation.

COLUMBUS—An act passed by the 94th general assembly barring candidates of subversive and "un-American" parties from the Ohio election ballots became law today with the expiration of the 90-day referendum period.

The act applies to any party or group which advocates the overthrow, by force or violence, of the existing form of government or which carries on "a program of sedition or treason."

The law was aimed primarily at the Communist party since the two major political parties, the Democrats and the Republicans, are specifically exempted from the provision of the law.

Among 30 other new acts which went into effect today was a law requiring voters in non-registration precincts to sign the poll book when they vote.

Important amendments liberalizing provisions of the workmen's compensation laws are included in another act. The measure provides for an increase of the maximum death award from $6,500 to $7,000 and increases the payment for partial disability resulting from an industrial accident from $18.75 to $21 a week.

Another new law requires the continuation of existing health administrations in charter cities and the placing of city health districts under civil service.

The addition of water to increase the sale weight of food is prohibited in another new law.

DRIVER HURT IN ASHLAND CRASH

Motorist In Serious Condition, Mansfielders Escape.

ASHLAND—Injured in an automobile collision three miles north of here on U. S. Route 42 yesterday afternoon, Thomas Kenny, 43, of Madison, O., is in Good Samaritan hospital with internal injuries. Attendants described his condition as "critical."

According to sheriff's deputies, Kenny was hurt when the light truck he was driving was struck head-on by an automobile driven by David Jordon of Mansfield.

Jordon, driving northeast, deputies said, lost control of his car on the wet pavement and skidded 350 feet before striking the truck. He was not injured.

Riding with Jordon was his brother, Eugene, and Ethel Bawl of Fort Jay, W. Va. Neither was injured.

WINS HONORS

Ashland Youth Chosen First In Dairy Essay Contest.

ASHLAND—A 19-year-old Ashland high school graduate who lives on an 82 acre farm and owns six cows was adjudged winner today in the Holstein division of a state-wide essay contest sponsored by the Purebred Dairy Cattle association and Ohio Farmer.

Robert McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. McConnell, whose essay was entitled," Why Dad Should Keep Purebred and Why He Should Keep Holstein-Friesians," was awarded a year-old registered Holstein-Friesian bull.

HENDERSON RAISES CEILING ON SOUTHERN PINE LUMBER PRICES

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Federal Price Administrator Leon Henderson today announced what he said were "substantial changes" in ceiling prices for southern pine lumber, allowing mills to increase prices as much as $4 per 1,000 feet.

His action followed complaints from many mills throughout the south that the price schedules originally fixed were too low. These complaints were carried to the White House by Sen. Bilbo (D-Miss.)

Henderson said that his action in changing prices did not alter the policy of his office in its drive to keep prices down.

"It always has been the policy of my office to investigate complaints of this nature and to make such adjustments as appear to be warranted," Henderson declared.

Under the change, ceiling prices were based on "rough green" lumber and additional charges were allowed for air drying, kiln drying, surfacing and grooving. These extra charges ranged from $1.50 per 1,000 board feet to $2 per 1,000 board feet. The prices ranged from $16 to $51 per 1,000 board feet depending on the type of lumber.

Earlier Henderson announced that ceiling prices will be established for waste paper as the OPM ordered the nation's scrap dealers to increase their collections by 20 per cent to insure an adequate supply of scrap and waste materials for the defense program.

Soldiers on Furlough Asked To Work In Harvest Fields.

(By Associated Press)

Soldiers on furlough in Oregon have been called upon to volunteer as harvest hands on a western farm front beset by a growing shortage of field workers.

The shortage—caused by the draft and by mushrooming national industrial payrolls—now is acute in Oregon's hop, prune, and bean growing areas and Arizona's cotton and melon districts.

Most other midwest and western grain and fruit states are getting through this year's harvest without major difficulty, although the margin is close.

CLUBS DIVIDE CONTEST HONORS

Kiwanis Golfers Win, Rotarians Take Them at Bridge.

Kiwanis and Rotary clubs again divided honors in the contests which were a part of Tuesday's joint meeting.

Kiwanis golfers scored a 17-14 victory in the matches played at Westbrook Country club in the afternoon and Rotarian bridge players piled up a comfortable margin over their opponents in the session which followed dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Ira Bronson, president of the Kiwanis club, presided at the dinner meeting and group singing was directed by Charles Conklin, with piano accompaniment by William F. Black.

GROUP ELECTS

McQuate Named to Head Church Brotherhood Organizations.

C. C. McQuate was elected president of the brotherhood of the Clay Lutheran, Shiloh and Oakland churches at the group's quarterly meeting last night in the Clay Lutheran church at Amoy. W. W. Pittinger was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Rev. W. A. Heffelfinger of Willard spoke at the meeting. The Ganges grange men's chorus presented a musical program. About 50 men attended.

Janitor Called to Trial In Slaying Of Music Teacher

AKRON —(AP)— A 62-year-old janitor, his plea for a change of venue denied, was called to trial today in the death and Easter church-furnace cremation of pretty young Ruth Zwicker, 24, a music teacher.

Albert B. Lukens, the defendant, is charged with first degree murder with intent to commit rape.

He was denied the venue change yesterday by Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker after Atty. E. Guy Hammond had argued that the community was prejudiced against Lukens.

The judge declared "every effort will be made to obtain an impartial jury." Selection of jurors is expected to require two or more days.

Miss Zwicker was missed after she had gone for piano practice to the church of which Lukens was janitor. A week later detectives found human remains in the ashes from one of the church furnaces, and Lukens was arrested. Police then announced a confession, quoting their prisoner as admitting that Miss Zwicker had been killed in a fall as he attempted to kiss her, and that he stuffed her body into the furnace Easter morning.

Nearly two months later, while Lukens remained in the county jail, detectives announced the defendant had made another confession, admitting that he choked the young woman after attempting rape.

GIRL LEAPS FROM GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE, EXPECTED TO SURVIVE

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO — Amazed Physicians today reported that a pretty 22-year-old girl who plunged from the Golden Gate bridge, in all probability will live despite the fact that she hit the waters of San Francisco Bay after a fall the height of a 20-story building.

Thirty-fifth person to take the suicide leap from the span since it was opened in 1937—and the only one to survive—Miss Cornelia Van Ierland, state unemployment insurance commission employe, was said to be recovering despite a broken back, two broken arms and severe bruises.

At San Francisco hospital, it was found that the impact had been so terrific that Miss Van Ierland's silk stockings had burst into fragments, her shoes had been torn off and a ring wrenched from her finger.

Throughout the rescue she remained conscious, and smiled feebly at her rescuers.

"It was just an irresistible impulse," she told doctors at the hospital. "I just had to jump. I didn't feel anything when I fell. I was just numb."

All available records show that the longest similar plunge in which the person survived was the stunt jump of Ray Woods, St. Louis, Mo., professional diver, from the San Francisco-Oakland bridge in 1937—a distance of only 186 feet. Woods' back was broken, and he is still partially paralyzed.

The famous jump of Steve Brodie from the Brooklyn bridge in 1886 was a mere 135-foot fall.

THEATERS

Blond Discovery.

Alexis Smith, the blond newcomer who makes her debut in "Dive Bomber," aerial thriller showing at the Ohio, is out to prove that her name can carry as much glamor as one a trifle more on the theatrical side. Less than a year ago Alexis was a graduate of Los Angeles City college, now she is being groomed for stardom. As a gold-digger in "Dive Bomber," she appears with Errol Flynn and Fred MacMurray in a dramatic story having to do with the fight being made by men of science to keep flyers physically fit for the air.

Dramatic Story.

The strange adventures of a private nurse with gunmen are depicted in "Private Nurse," opening today at the Madison. Brenda Marshall plays the role of the nurse who gets mixed up with a reformed gangster when she is engaged to take care of his daughter. Sheldon Leonard portrays the gangster, Jane Darwell plays the nurse who befriends the girl and the cast has Robert Lowery and Ann Todd. "Mystery Ship," a thrilling story with its plot laid at sea is the second attraction. Paul Kelly and Lola Lane are featured.

Mystery Thriller.

Crammed with suspense, "The Nurse's Secret," mystery-thriller showing at the Ritz features Lee Patrick and Regis Toomey as a breezy pair of sleuths who round up a murderer. Adapted from a story by Mary Roberts Rinehart the picture features Clara Blandick and Charles Trowbridge. Cobina Wright, jr., the society bud, has a "meanie" role in "Accent On Love," the second production featuring George Montgomery and Oso Massen.

Racket Exposed.

An expose of phony talent schools operated by unscrupulous promoters, "City of Missing Girls," showing at the Park theater, features Astrid Allwyn, H. B. Warner and John Archer as the crusading trio that dares to bring the operators to justice. Miss Allwyn plays a girl reporter who works with Archer, as a young assistant attorney, and Warner as a private detective, to round up the promoters. Roy Rogers in "Sheriff of Tombstone," is the co-attraction.

Daring Adventure.

Dealing with the personal conflict between a husband and wife who hold opposite views about the tryanny imposed upon the Old World, "The Voice in the Night," opening Friday at the Majestic shows the influence of an underground radio station that calls for freedom in the midst of oppression. Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard are co-starred in the leading roles for the first time since "Cavalcade," Brook as the husband who fights oppression, and Miss Wynyard as the wife who believes in the philosophy that results in terror. George Huston in "Lone Rider Ambushed," is the companion picture.

SIX ENLISTED

4 Mansfielders Among Latest To Enroll In U. S. Navy.

U. S. Naval Recruiting Officer William G. Cox announced that six men had been enlisted in the U. S. navy yesterday through the local recruiting station, four of whom are Mansfielders.

Richard P. Talmadge, 579 Edgewood road; John B. Lake, 424 Shepard road and James W. McCormick, 69 Marion avenue, enlisted in the naval reserve for the clerical school, while Melville M. Mullis, 293 West Fourth street, enlisted in the naval reserve for reserve officer midshipman training.

Enlisting in the regular navy were William E. Bauer of Lucas and Albert L. Crabaugh of New Washington.

Recruiting Officer Cox pointed out that men will be accepted in the naval reserve in navy ratings which correspond to their civil occupation, or be enlisted directly for naval trade schools. The period of enlistment is four years, but reserves will be released to inactive duty at the end of the present emergency, according to the recruiting officer.

He also explained that age limits are 17 to 50 for men with trades, and 17 to 36 for those without trades.

SECOND TARPON JUMPS IN BOAT

FORT MYERS, Fla. — (U.P.) — Lightning may not strike twice in the same place, but at least one fisherman has had two fish jump into his boat.

W. Ashby Jones, veteran angler, and his guide, Newt Rudn, reported that the second tarpon within two weeks had sought "shelter" aboard their boat. Jones said he was trying to land a "big one" when the tarpon leaped from the water, landing in his tackle box.

Jones said his lifetime catch totaled more than 3,000 tarpon. "And that doesn't include the two which jumped aboard," he said.

Pasadena May Use Women as Traffic Guards

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (INS) — Abolishment of the state relief administration payrolls and the development of national defense has caused Pasadena leaders to consider women for traffic guard duty at school crossings.

A test is being made in cooperation with Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz at one intersection with a woman acting as a crossing guard. Under plans recommended by the parent-teacher association and approved by the Pasadena Board of Supervisors, male school crossing guards would be replaced with women wearing distinctive uniforms on less congested school intersections.

This plan, they said, would permit the men to be released for more productive pursuits in behalf of national defense.

County Manager Wayne R. Allen said the proposal is meritorious and urged that it be given further tests.

TRIPPED UP BY OWN QUESTION

PASADENA, Cal.—(U.P.)—When attorney Clark Edwin Davis was arrested for speeding, he remembered above all he was an attorney.

Defending himself in police court, he asked the arresting officer, Paul Goble, if he could produce a certificate of accuracy for the speedometer of the officer's motorcycle. He could not.

Police Judge Kenneth N. Newell, conducting the offense, asked Davis for a certicate of accurary for his speedometer.

Davis paid a $5 fine.

"3 boys from camp for dinner— an' how they dove into my Spry FULL FLAVOR Deep Dish Peach an' Almond Pie!"

says Aunt Jenny

"IT'S GRAND, if I do say so. I use part brown sugar in the fillin' with a little almond extract an' lemon juice to bring out that mouth-waterin' fresh peach flavor. An' the tender, delicate Sprycrust lets you get the full flavor instead of smotherin' it as pastry made with ordinary shortenin's may. My, you should have seen those soldier boys eat! They didn't leave a single crumb. An' one of 'em, bless his heart, wanted the receipt for his mother.

Deep Dish Peach and Almond Pie

10 to 12 fresh peaches, pared and sliced
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 tablespoon lemon juice
⅔ cup granulated sugar
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon quick cooking tapioca
1 tablespoon butter
1 recipe Spry Pastry

Combine peaches, almond extract, lemon juice, sugars, salt and tapioca. Arrange peaches in Spry-coated baking dish. Dot with butter. Roll dough ⅛-inch thick and of a size to cover baking dish, allowing 1 inch all around. Cut a few slits to permit steam to escape. Place pastry over peaches in baking dish, turn edge under and press on rim all around dish. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 35 to 45 min. Serve with Almond Hard Sauce. Serves 8.

Spry Pastry

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
7 tablespoons Spry
3 tablespoons water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add ⅓ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a navy bean. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork work lightly together until a dough is formed.

Almond Hard Sauce

3 tablespoons Spry
3 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup toasted almonds, finely chopped

Combine Spry, butter, salt and extracts. Add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Add nuts and mix well. (All measurements are level.)

• "I hope you'll make this pie today, folks. With Spry, remember. Don't risk ordinary shortenin's that may give 'off-flavor' crust. In fact, don't risk that any time. Use purer Spry for all your pastry —for Full Flavor cakes an' fried foods, too. Just hear the compliments you get!"

Bed - Vanity - Chest

All the grace and charm that you could want in bedroom furniture is embodied in this 18th Century suite. In beautiful mahogany veneers it consists of a graceful sleigh type bed—artistic 52-in. vanity, dresser with 7 drawers, all of solid oak and full dust proof construction, large size attached mirror—a 36-in. five drawer chest with oak drawers and full dustproofing. Corner posts on all pieces have rope turnings. Your bedroom can't help but look charming with a suite such as this in it.

LONDON HEARS HOW TO HANDLE BLITZ REPAIRS

Raid Shelters Rebuilt, Mobile Squads Formed as City Waits Stronger Raids.

(AP Feature Service Writer)

LONDON—Preparing for great intensification of air raids during fall and winter months, the British ministry of works has formed a mobile organization which intends to be repairing damage to homes within 10 minutes after completion of blitzes to come.

During the summer raid lull 30,000 workers have repaired 95 per cent of the damaged houses in the London area which were repairable. Costs were borne by the 28 London boroughs.

Almost no repairs have been made to London's historic buildings, except for minor work on roofs and windows. Great holes still gape.

No figures are available on repair of private or public business properties, but informed sources say thousands of laborers have been on that job for months. In London's huge business area, temporary repairs have been made to hundreds of damaged business buildings, which again are filled with workers. Other structures too badly damaged have been torn down.

Other crews have been repairing utilities, city streets, sidewalks, and the Ministry says "the greater part of that task is completed." No London street is closed now because of bomb damage.

The Ministry adds that 72,000 damaged houses were made habitable again in one recent week. The total included 40,000 in the provinces and 32,000 in London which suffered twice as much damage in air raids as the rest of Britain combined."

Those repairs were of the "first aid" class—holes in roofs covered, blownout windows covered with waterproof fabric, doors rehung and ceilings restored. Extended repairs are underway in some boroughs.

Repair has been supervised by the ministry of works, which has 0,000 contractors available in the London area alone, and is seeking ,000 more. the ministry of health, and the director of emergency repairs for each borough.

Here is what will happen after London bombing raid.

Surveyors in each borough will be sent out to assess damage and inform the director of emergency repairs. He immediately assigns builders, laborers and equipment, and calls on the ministry of works for materials. The system is similar to that of last year but time lags are believed cut.

The Ministry also has an emergency squad of 5,000 specialists to be rushed to any section of the country where raid damage is extensive.

The Ministry of Health has been busy during the summer restoring air raid shelters. Regional Commissioner Charles Kay says that thousands of London shelters, unfit because of drainage or structural defects, have been rebuilt and that the work is continuing.

London now has 27,000 shelters which can provide for 4,772,00 persons in addition to millions of others who seek protection in the subways.

Workers' homes damaged in raids receive first priority for repairs; next, any war goods factories which might have been damaged, and then public office buildings

Saved $8,000,000 From Nazis

Ignacy Matuszewski, former Polish minister of finance, who escaped from his native land with $8,000,000 in government gold under the very noses of the invading Nazis, is shown as he arrived in Jersey City, N. J., aboard the liner Excambion from Lisbon. With him is his wife, Halina. The money was turned over to the Free Polish government in London.

WARNS SQUIRREL HUNTERS TO CLEAR SELVES ON OPENING DAY

Richland county nimrods, looking toward the approaching squirrel season, today were warned not to confuse the open season dates in the southern and northern Ohio districts.

C. I Kimmel, state game protector for the Richland county area, said that while squirrel hunting will be permitted from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30 in southern Ohio, hunters in the Richland county area will have a "short season" starting Sept. 22 and ending Sept. 30.

There are 36 Ohio counties in which squirrel hunting will be illegal until Sept. 22 and 52 counties in which hunting will be permitted beginning Sept. 15, Kimmel said.

Kimmel warned hunters to stay clear of the following counties until the Sept 22 opening dates:

Allen, Ashland, Ashtabula, Auglaize Columbiana, Crawford Cuyahoga, Defiance, Erie, Fulton Geauga, Hancock, Hardin, Henry, Huron, Lake, Lorain, Lucas, Mahoning, Medina, Mercer, Ottawa, Paulding, Portage, Putman, Richland, Sandusky, Seneca, Stark, Summit, Trumbull, Van Wert, Wayne, Williams, Wood and Wyandot.

WHITTLES HER WAY

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. —(U P)— When Jane Hudson, University of Indiana co-ed, is whittling, she isn't wasting her time. Tuition, clothing, books and spending money have been carved with her 75 cent knife and she expects to keep on whittling her way through school.

Don't Buy a Costly Extra Soap for Rayons!
Wash Everything with Rayon-Safe Super Suds Alone!

...AND SUPER SUDS DOES DAINTY RAYONS BRIGHT AND PRETTY, TOO... WITH SAFETY!
Super Suds
FOR WASHING CLOTHES AND DISHES

Rayon Experts Prove Super Suds Rayon-Safe! Does Grimy Shirts, Dainty Rayons, Smart Cottons, Beautifully!

SAVE YOURSELF the trouble and cost of forever buying two kinds of washday soap! Rayon Experts have proved Super Suds is Rayon-Safe... does those dainty rayons with perfect safety. And that means washable colors too.

YES, AND THESE SAME go-gettin' Super Suds get the Deep Down Dirt out of grimy shirts, towels and work-clothes. Actually, 1/3 more suds than the average of 8 leading soaps tested. And suds count in getting clothes clean.

SO, WHY BURDEN YOUR BUDGET with 2 washday soaps, when Super Suds does both washday jobs? Save your money! Get Rayon-Safe Super Suds in the big blue box today!

HERE'S HOW RAYON EXPERTS SAY TO WASH RAYONS!
1. Test a small patch in plain water. If color runs, it's not washable.
2. Wash rayons separately by hand in lukewarm Super Suds. Dissolve Super Suds in hot water. Add cold water to get lukewarm suds.
3. Do not soak rayons. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist
4. Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean, lukewarm water. Roll in towel, but don't leave there.
5. Use a moderate iron.

'CURB SERVICE' UNITES COUPLE

NORMAN, Okla. — (U.P.) — Norman has had its first "curb service" marriage.

An out-of-town couple, coming here to get married, went to a church to find a preacher. He was not there and the youth and girl walked out to the curb and hailed a passerby.

"Do you know where we can find a preacher?" the youth asked.

"Sure," the passerby told him, "I'm one myself."

The preacher, a vegetable and fruit salesman, also offered to perform the ceremony on the spot. A woman to whom he had just attempted to sell vegetables provided a pen for signing the marriage certificate.

NAVY CONVERTS TREASURE ISLE INTO NEW BASE

Former Golden Gate Fair Site Considered Ideal For Training.

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Treasure Island, in the middle of San Francisco Bay and the largest, man-made island in the world, has been taken over by the navy for the duration of the present national defense emergency.

The island was the site of the 1939-1940 Golden Gate International Exposition, but for the next four or five years, at least, it will be used as a seaplane and small craft training base.

Navy officials found the island an almost ideal location for the purposes for which it is to be used.

In the first place, it is entirely surrounded with navigable water except for the small ramp that connects it with the San Francisco Bay bridge and which brings it within 10 minutes from the center of the city.

The navy also was able to utilize 17 of the principal buildings of the exposition and thus save greatly in construction expense, and what was even more important, time. The navy was able to move in immediately and expects to have its first contingent of 1,000 men in training within a few months. Eventually, it expects to train 5,000 men at one time there.

Of the 17 buildings which the navy will take over, three are permanent. They are the administration buildings and the two vast hangars of the Pan American Airways. The latter will continue to operate its Far Eastern and Australian Clipper services from their permanent base at the south end of the island, but they have consented to have the hangars used as barracks during the navy occupation.

The remaining 14 buildings include all the major exhibition structures of the exposition and are of vast proportions. They are not of permanent construction but have weathered the three years of their existence so well the navy is confident they can be utilized, with proper re-conditioning, for the four or five years they will be wanted.

Under the terms by which the state deeded to the city the 400 acres at the bottom of San Francisco Bay, the island eventually must become a city airport. Arrangements were made between the navy and the city whereby the former will contribute much to the development of the island as an airport.

The navy will use its influence in obtaining $1,680,000 WPA funds for construction of the airport, which will go forward while the island is being used by the navy.

The navy will need for its own use two runways, one 4,100 feet long and the other 3,710 feet in length. These will be built immediately. They will be permanent and will serve when the island reverts to its eventual use as a municipal airport.

Three more such runways will be constructed by the city when the navy lease expires.

Some of the more suitable buildings on the island will be used for machine shops and repair works.

Court Lowers $3,151 Tax Bill To Mere $4.06

CLAYTON, Mo.—(INS)—Back in 1933 when Andrew J. Adank, a St. Louis county resident, failed to file a personal property return, County Assessor Martin L. Neaf arbitrarily fixed Adank's assessment at $1,000.

The next year, when no return showed from Arank, Neaf doubled the assessment to $2000. The following year it was upped to $4,000.

By the time 1940 tax bills were sent out Neaf was assessing Adank's property—some furniture and a 1934 automobile—at $128,000. The tax bill, $3,251.19, was too high, Adank believed, for his property, so he complained to the county court.

Recently the three judges of the county court reduced Adank's bill to $4.06, the amount due on an assessed valuation of $160, which Adank in an affidavit gave as the value of his furniture and automobile.

WARNED ABOUT DIPPING HATS

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)—Those low-brimmed women's hats which cover one eye may be considered chic, but they're not for women motorists, the Philadelphia County Medical society warns.

The society wants to know how a woman can watch out for traffic hazards while driving a car with one eye covered.

Even though automobile engineers are constantly trying to reduce accidents by improving the driver's vision, the society points out that "some women destroy this progress through insistence on hats unsuitable for driving."

GO TO YELLOWSTONE

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—(U.P.) — Maybe a soldier's life is pretty soft after all. The army is completing a recreation center at Yellowstone for the enjoyment of soldiers stationed at Fort Douglas, Utah. Some men have moved in and plans are being made for each soldier at Fort Douglas to spend 30 days this summer at the camp.

There were fewer cases of smallpox in the United States in 1940 than in any previous year on record.

North Carolina's Voice Joins U. S. Fleet Chorus

Tells Newlyweds to Expect Fewer Frills In Furnishings

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— With national unity a prevalent topic of conversation, the office of production management tells how a patriotic young bride might go about furnishing her home without interfering with the government's needs for defense materials.

Aluminum no longer is available for domestic use, they said, so her pots and pans will have to be made of something else. They explained, however, that she should not worry because many good substitutes are available.

Less durable, and maybe a little harder to scour when dishwashing time comes, are the porcelain-enameled variety that mother seemed able to get along with.

If she wants to buy a refrigerator she will get a product that hasn't as many fancy trimmings on the outside, but it will be just as efficient. The inside will be different, too. The freezing compartment probably will be of enameled-steel instead of stainless-steel. Chrome, which makes steel stainless, is a vital ingredient for national defense.

Tableware, always the pride of the young bride if it is a highly polished silver set, won't be quite as cherished, and certainly never will be singled out as a valuable heirloom. Plastics to some extent, low chromium steel, steel, glass and wood will have to suffice, the OPM pointed out.

Toasters will operate electrically, but different designs will permit their successful use without mica. And the young bride may have to get along as best she can with a gas stove instead of an electric range. OPM officials explained that power units in electric stoves require nickel, chrome and some tungsten, all critical materials already in great demand.

Finally, they said that young brides and housewives should not feel they could get any better utensils if they paid a higher price because both rich and poor alike will be facing the same shortage.

They reported that many luxury and common items purchasable in normal times just won't be on retailers' shelves. Many are gone now.

STURGIS, Mich.—(U.P.)—A few years ago the two pet dogs of Jean McCallum died because there was no veterinary available to treat them. That decided her on her career. Jean now is in the third year of a five-year course at Michigan State—studying veterinary science.

Survey Reveals Gifts Preferred By Boys at Camp

NEW YORK—(INS)—The million boys now in military training appreciate food more than any of the other presents they receive from friends and family, according to a survey conducted in 17 of the largest camps in all parts of the country.

In a survey seeking information for millions of women readers who have relatives or friends in camp, it was found that smoking supplies are the second most popular gifts received, followed by clothes, letters, toilet articles and money. Break-down of the survey reveals the following results:

1. Food products, led by candy, cake and cookies.
2. Smoking supplies, led by cigarettes, tobacco and pipes.
3. Clothing, led by socks, handkerchiefs and shirts.
4. Letters from home.
5. Toilet articles, led by shaving material, towels and soap.
6. Money, especially toward the end of the month.

Other articles most frequently mentioned were home-town newspapers, magazines, writing materials, books and photographs.

MERELY HUNGRY

DALLAS, Tex.—(U.P.)—Just something to eat was all that was needed to satisfy the prowlers who broke into the home of L. S. Vaughn. Part of the list of things Vaughn found missing are: A dozen eggs, two boxes of strawberries, two cans of tomatoes, three cans of pineapple, a head of lettuce, half a pound of butter and three cans of peaches.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

My home is a mess.

Now I know that such a thing shouldn't even be whispered outside the front door. Any good housekeeper could tell you that. But this isn't my manager's fault, and so long as the neighbors are bound to find out about this deplorable condition sooner or later, the rest of the people might as well find out sooner.

I won't let the neighbors scoop me on this.

Most of my troubles this summer I've been able to trace to golf. I can't quite do that this time, but by golly I can trace it to a golf coach.

Yes sir, V. H. Oberlander, the high school golf coach, is the guy who blighted my life and turned my home into a shambles. And all with the best intentions in the world, or at least so I was led to suspect.

And what is more, I thanked him for it, and my kids thanked him for it. I doubt if my wife will thank him.

Now it is well known to one and all from Maine to Texas that Obie is one of this country's outstanding match-cover collectors.

Well, my two boys have been collecting match covers for several years. and have been getting no place fast. So I merely wanted them to see how a real match collector arranged his displays.

Innocence was abroad in the land and our faces were wide open when we entered Obie's sanctum sanctorum.

I fear he saw us coming

"How would you like to have some matches?" he asks Joe.

"Fine," says Joe.

"Would you take some home with you, if I gave 'em to you?"

"Sure," says Joe.

So he reaches up on a shelf and drags down an enormous cardboard box jam-packed full of literally thousands of match covers. And we took 'em home.

Well, the kids wanted to see 'em, and so did I. And now we've got match covers from attic to basement, all over the floors and the stairsteps, and all over the tables.

Why, we have to stand up to eat our meals. And my wife has to clear off the stove before she can cook!

And we thanked him for it. Our home is a mess!

Yankees Prepare Clincher

Can Win Fifth Flag In Six Campaigns Today.

(By Associated Press)

THE NEW YORK YANKEES may clinch their American league pennant today—their fifth championship in six years. The Yanks are in Boston and need only one more victory to figuratively sew the big bunting onto their flagpole.

They squeezed the Red Sox through a 2-1 11-inning wringer yesterday to assure themselves of no worse than a tie. They have won 90 games and lost 45. If they lost every one of their remaining 19 contests they still would have only 64 defeats—the same number that Boston and the Chicago White Sox, tied for second place, already have.

The latter clubs are 19½ games behind the leaders, and the Cleveland Indians, who were seven proud games in front of the Yanks on May 25, today are 22½ back and threatened even with the loss of their place in the first division.

Today, if the Yanks nail down their flag, it will be with both Joe's, McCarthy and DiMaggio, absent from the scene. The manager was left behind in a Washington hospital for treatment of a gall bladder ailment and DiMaggio was dropped off at home to recover from an ankle injury.

Their part in getting the Yanks to the top won't be overlooked, however, and both are expected to rejoin the club in New York this week-end.

The Yanks were nearly given the works by Broadway Charley Wagner of the Red Sox yesterday. They were held to seven hits and it took Tom Henrich's 27th homer in the eighth inning to throw the game into extra innings and give New York a chance to win in the 11th when Red Rolfe hit into a force play with the bases loaded, scoring one run.

Meanwhile the Brooklyn Dodgers blew a bountiful opportunity to take the national league lead away from the St. Louis Cardinals, who were kept idle by rain.

Brooklyn had a doubleheader with the last place Phillies and won the first game 4-1 with Whit Wyatt pitching a four-hitter for his 19th victory. Then Manager Leo Durocher gambled on a young righthander named Ed Albosta, who reported two days before from Durham of the Piedmont league. The Phils gave him a going over to win the nightcap 4-1. This put the Dodgers four percentage points instead of two behind the Cards.

Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 3-2 in a night game although Elmer Riddle held the Pirates to six hits.

Washington whipped the Philadelphia Athletics 9-8 with a five-run rally in the ninth.

Ohio Wesleyan university will open its 100th year with a step in the direction of big-time football, it has been announced by George E. Gauthier, head coach and director of athletics. The Battling Bishops have nine games carded, the final contest being with Michigan State on Nov. 22. On Nov. 8, at the homecoming with Ohio, Gauthier plans to re-assemble some of the great teams of the past. Former coaches, such as Fielding Yost and Branch Rickey, are expected to return to the campus. Gauthier, now entering his 21st year as Bishop mentor, will open the centennial year with an attempt to bag his 100th victory. In his undergraduate days at Michigan State (then Michigan Agricultural college) 145-pound Gauthier was varsity quarter for two years and never played in a losing game.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz.)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Don't look now, but . . . Tommy Harmon might have given pro football a whirl (with the Chicago Bears) if it wasn't for that feud between Bear boss George Halas and Dick Richards, the ex-Detroit Lions' owner. . . . The Old Fox, Pete Reilly, is managing ex-Middleweight Champ Al Hostak now and figures on bringing him east from Seattle in a couple of weeks. . . . Wilbur Shaw is about ready to tell the folks he is through with auto racing for keeps and will spend his time in his new airplane job.

KICKIN' AROUND.

Hollywood's first reports on Billy Conn's picture are so good the movie men are inviting him out to make another . . . Is this Joe Cronin's last year of shortstopping? . . . And is that why the Red Sox whisper confidentially Leo Pesky will be up from Louisville to take over the short field next season? . . . Porter's Cap, the west coast choice to knock off Whirlaway last spring, has gone so stale Charley Howard is turning him out to pasture. . . . Bill Terry rushed out to Memphis this week when he heard his son was sick.

NOTES TO YOU.

The Yanks are mighty interested in Milo Candini, their Kansas City farm hand, since he blinded their Sunday sluggers with that one-hit exhibition elbowing job last week. . . . And if you think the boys are daffy with that football stuff in this hot weather, a dispatch just in announces the start of the basketball season in the Philippines.

WHO'S NUTZ NOW?

The day before Lon Warneke tossed his no-hitter, he told the Chicago News' John Carmichael: "All the developments in this game in the last ten years favor the hitters. . . . The ball's so much like a golf ball, you can bunt it outa the park."

Hundreds of Boston fans getting ready to head for the southland to see Boston college and Holy Cross footballers do their stuff in Louisiana this fall . . . When the Cubs gave Charley Root that "day," Prexy Phil Wrigley tossed Grandpa Charley a check for $2,273.19 — representing one per cent of what he has earned pitching for the club for 15 years.

Giant Gridders Wallop Stars

NEW YORK—(AP)—Put together as teams, the all-star footballers are a well-walloped collection of warriors today, but as they nurse their bruises they have the satisfaction of knowing they're the classiest freshmen ball players to move into the professional game in years.

From last week's shindig in Chicago, where the Bears' "T" formation rolled to victory, and last night's party in the Polo Grounds in which the New York Giants mauled the Eastern All-Stars 23-3 before a sell-out crowd of 54,379, you can pick two dozen of as neat an assortment of bone crushers as you'd want to see on any man's gridiron.

Headed by a string of blasting ball-carriers, fellows like Minnesota George Franck, Fordham Len Eshmont, Villanova Nick Basca, Marion Pugh of Texas A. & M., the Stanford speedsters, Norm Standlee and Hugh Gallarneau, Milt Piepul, who's trading in his Notre Dame suit for a Detroit Lions' paycheck, and Jim Castiglia, Georgetown's kicking ace, these youngsters threw plenty of scares into the pros here and in Chicago.

Seven Home Games Set For High School Sked.

The 1941 football season officially opened today for followers of Mansfield High's Tygers with the announcement by George Sherman that reserved season tickets were being placed on sale in downtown stores and at the high school.

The season ducats for seven home games, two of which will have a 75-cent individual ticket price, are placed on sale for $3, Sherman said.

They may be obtained at Yuncker's Sports, Athletic Supply, Fox jewelry store, Tawse's pharmacy, Mayer's drug store, and at the high school.

Sept. 19—Akron West.
Sept. 26—at Elyria.
Oct. 3—Sandusky.
Oct. 10—at Newark.
Oct. 17—Springfield.
Oct. 24—at Massillon.
Oct. 31—Cleveland Central.
Nov. 7—Canton McKinley.
Nov. 15—Shelby.
Nov. 20—Fremont.

All but the last two games will be played at night. The Springfield game has been designated as Dad's Day, and the Canton McKinley game as Homecoming. Separate tickets for the McKinley and Fremont games will cost 75 cents, the McKinley tilt being regarded as the big game on the home schedule, while the Fremont game comes on Thanksgiving Day.

Mounts Have Five Lettermen

ALLIANCE—(AP)—Coach Harry Geltz of Mount Union college will have five lettermen as a nucleus for his 1941 Purple Raider eleven, but sophomores may hold the answer to the team's success.

Mount Union will start practice Sept. 10, the earliest date permitted for Ohio Conference rulings.

The five lettermen, all seniors, are George Freetage of Sebring, center; Richard Davis of Niles, end; Bill McCrea of Pittsburgh, Pa., guard; Bob Burch of Youngstown, halfback and Myron Palmer of Wilkinsburg, Pa., a guard.

Much of the Purple's showing will depend upon the development of 14 sophomores. They are Charles Sell, Alliance; Charles Meeker, Cliff Bolander and Alan Miller, Youngstown; Harry George and Ray Neshutz, Minerva; Walter Getzinger, Kenton; Ed Lazeat, Louisville; Dick Myers, Beloit; Jim Newmyer, Greensburg, Pa.; Paul Pugh, Ravenna; Jim Shondel, Clinton; Ernie Starr, Steubenville and Dick South, Massillon.

In addition to his five lettermen, Coach Geltz will have five other seniors and four juniors from last season's squad, if they all return to school.

Mount Union will play a schedule of eight games, four here and four on the road, meeting Hiram and Washington and Jefferson in non-conference frays ad playing six Ohio Conference rivals.

Pros Trip All-Stars Again

Rams Drub College Boys, Massillon Band Shines.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The futility of attempting to match a well-drilled professional football team with a club molded in three short weeks was amply demonstrated again last night as the Cleveland Rams drove to an easy 37-7 decision over a squad of all-stars collected mainly from mid-western universities.

Although 30,000 fans turned out for the fourth annual Cleveland stadium charity clash, the halt-time performance of the snappy Massillon, O., high school band vied strongly with several long runs for the customer interest.

It was obvious the All-Stars didn't have a chance from the time they tossed a pass behind their own goal line to start the Rams' touchdown parade until Parker Hall ended the scoring with a 33-yard run through the left side of the weary collegians

Midway in the first period Quarterback Don Elting from the University of Illinois threw a short suicide pass from behind his own goal. Paul McDonough, six-foot four-inch flankman for the Rams intercepted and could have walked the five yards across the goal.

The panic was on, for Hall sprinted 16 yards to set up a touchdown for Gaylon Smith Marty Slovak contributed some neat broken field running for a 56-yard tally and Boyd Clay contributed a 32-yard placekick to give the Rams three more points and a 24-0 halftime edge They coasted the remainder of the way

The All-Stars' lone touchdown came against the pros' third stringers as Carl Estenick from John Carroll university took a long third-quarter pass from Creighton's Johnny Knolla and eluded a flock of tacklers for a 69-yard touchdown.

It was the collegians' fourth loss in as many appearances against the heavier Rams, and the most decisive of all The American Legion and the Cleveland News sponsored the hostilities

Girl Motorcycle Riders Do Bit

The women's auxiliary of the Mansfield Motorcycle club will have charge of the concessions at the club's races Sunday afternoon at the Fairground

What is the women's auxiliary? They are the girls who ride the rumble seats of the motorcycles driven by the club members, and some of the girls even ride the motorcycles.

While a number of entries have already been received for the event, which is sanctioned by the American Motorcycle association, most of the racers are expected to wait until the last minute to signify their intention of competing

There were 30 motorcycle riders here for the race which was rained out June 15, and at least that many are expected Sunday Tickets sold for the June 15 meet will be honored

PISTOL SHOTS FIRE FOR 7 CHAMPIONSHIPS

CAMP PERRY — (AP) — Seven pistol championships, six with the 38 caliber revolver and one with the service weapon, were on the national match scheduled today along with three .22 caliber rifle events

Only one of the originally scheduled small bore rifle matches was due for decision, heavy entry lists forcing postponement of two, cancellation of one, and a rearrangement of the entire slate. One of yesterday's postponed events was to be decided, and another was moved up from Friday's schedule.

Rams-Steelers Play at Akron

Lift Grid Loop Lid In Big New Rubber Bowl.

AKRON—Cleveland Rams and Pittsburgh Steelers will lift the lid on the National Football league season Sunday afternoon in Akron's Rubber Bowl before an expected crowd of 30,000 or more.

The Rubber Bowl lies adjacent to Akron's Derby Downs, scene of the All-American Soap Box Derby and is known to thousands of Ohioans who annually attend the Derby and pre-race programs in the great concrete stadium.

Clash of the Rams and Steelers will not only be the first game in the professional league but will mark Elmer Layden's first contest as high commissioner of league affairs. Layden will be an honor guest.

The game brings professional football back to an area which for many years was looked upon as the center of the play-for-pay sport—Akron-Canton-Massillon

The Steelers, warming up for the inaugural, defeated the highly touted Detroit Lions in an exhibition at Forbes field, Pittsburgh, Monday, while the Rams warmed up with the annual game with the Midwest All-Stars in Cleveland Stadium Wednesday night.

Advance ticket sales have been heavy but 25,000 tickets at popular prices will be held back for sale at the stadium starting at noon Sunday The game is an afternoon affair, beginning at 2.30 o clock

Birds Clinch A. A. Pennant

Eighth Inning Rally Wins For Columbus.

The American association pennant belongs to the Columbus Red Birds

The St. Louis Cardinals' farm club clinched the flag last night by defeating Indianapolis, 5 to 3. They now lead second place Louisville by 6½ games and have only five to play. Louisville, rained out for the second straight night, has six games left.

The pennant was the seventh for Columbus and the fourth since club took over the franchise in 1931 The last flag was won in 1937, a year after Burt Hotton took over as manager. Kansas City took the 1940 pennant.

After maintaining a tie for first in the opening three days of the season, the Red Birds sagged to seventh in May and then took the lead again June 10, holding it six days. Ousted a second time, they didn't reach the top again until Aug 3, but after that they never were deposed.

The pennant clinching victory was like a lot of the games Columbus won in the stretch. The flock trailed the Indians, 3 to 1, after the third inning and then blasted across four tallies in the eighth to win. It was the 19th pitching victory for Johnny Grodzicki.

Kansas City defeated Minneapolis, 7 to 5, to tie the Millers for third place.

The St. Paul-Milwaukee game, in addition to the Louisville-Toledo contest, was rained out.

Toledo Club Set For Game

Walt Missler, Ex-Brave, To Catch Against Clowns.

THE Ethiopian Clown - Toledo Krantz Old Dutch exhibition baseball game in Fairgrounds park here tomorrow night at 8 30 looms as one of the most exciting and novel attractions ever offered in these parts.

The Clown record of 98 wins against five defeats including the Denver Post championship, stamps the Miamians as major league ball players, while their attendance record of 1,128,000 paid as of Monday, Sept. 2, indicates their popularity. A total of 75,000 watched them in Denver while getting closer to home, 2,875 were on hand in Wakeman, Ohio, a little crossroads town.

The Toledo Brewers should prove worthy opponents They won the Class A Federation championship in Toledo and are on their way to compete in the national tournament which starts Sept. 6 in Youngstown.

Krantz is loaded with ex-minor league stars, lured home by good offers in defense industry. "Peanuts" Amborski, ace pitcher, was with the Lima Pandas while Walt Siminski, another ace chucker, was in the Piedmont league "Red" Smith, curve balling southpaw, who will probably face the Clowns here, was Toledo university's No. 1 flinger last season.

Walt Missler, head catcher, is a former Brave receiver Frank Katafias, first sacker, was with the Pandas, George Wendt, second baseman, with Flint in the Michigan State, while Dick Strugarek, flashy shortstop, who starred at Dayton university, has been working out with the Cleveland Indians the past two weeks.

Joe Boley, hard hitting third sacker, played in the Cotton States with Vicksburg, while Outfielder Al Mocek, although only 21 years old, is a two year veteran of the Piedmont league. The class of the Brewers assures the Clowns a battle

Fans are urged to get to the ball park around 7 30 as the fun starts promptly at 8 o'clock the game at 8 30 The Brown Al Schacht or rather a combination of Al Schacht and Nick Altrock, namely "Peanut" Nyasses, is said to be the funniest comedian outside the big top.

Hank Rigney, the promoter, does not hesitate to recommend the Clowns as a "cure all" Rigney says "they draw bigger every time they play"

Fans are expected here from 75 miles away to see the Clowns play and entertain. Gates open promptly at 6 30.

PITCHER BOUGHT

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Columbus Red Birds of the American association today announced the purchase of Pitcher Elwin "Preacher" Roe from the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed amount of cash Roe, who has been with the Birds on option, is 23 years old, and has been in organized ball four years.

On July 2 the sun was at its farthest point from the earth, some 3 000,000 miles farther away than it was last January.

Tipul and Mayer Hit Under Par

Vin Tipul and Joe Mayer each sliced two strokes off par at Possum Run last evening to pace the Westinghouse golf league with cards of 34.

Only other 40-breakers were Porter and Snyder, 38, and Schwaner and Zeides, 39.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

My home is a mess.

Now I know that such a thing shouldn't even be whispered outside the front door. Any good housekeeper could tell you that. But this isn't my manager's fault, and so long as the neighbors are bound to find out about this deplorable condition sooner or later, the rest of the people might as well find out sooner.

I won't let the neighbors scoop me on this.

Most of my troubles this summer I've been able to trace to golf. I can't quite do that this time, but by golly I can trace it to a golf coach.

Yes sir, V. H. Oberlander, the high school golf coach, is the guy who blighted my life and turned my home into a shambles. And all with the best intentions in the world, or at least so I was led to suspect.

And what is more, I thanked him for it, and my kids thanked him for it. I doubt if my wife will thank him.

Now it is well known to one and all from Maine to Texas that Obie is one of this country's outstanding match-cover collectors.

Well, my two boys have been collecting match covers for several years, and have been getting no place fast. So I merely wanted them to see how a real match collector arranged his displays.

Innocence was abroad in the land and our faces were wide open when we entered Obie's sanctum sanctorum.

* * *

I fear he saw us coming

"How would you like to have some matches?" he asks Joe.

"Fine," says Joe.

"Would you take some home with you, if I gave 'em to you?"

"Sure," says Joe

So he reaches up on a shelf and drags down an enormous cardboard box jam-packed full of literally thousands of match covers. And we took 'em home.

Well, the kids wanted to see 'em, and so did I. And now we've got match covers from attic to basement, all over the floors and the stairsteps, and all over the tables

Why, we have to stand up to eat our meals. And my wife has to clear off the stove before she can cook!

* * *

And we thanked him for it. Our home is a mess!

Yankees Prepare Clincher

Can Win Fifth Flag In Six Campaigns Today.

(By Associated Press)

THE NEW YORK YANKEES may clinch their American league pennant today—their fifth championship in six years. The Yanks are in Boston and need only one more victory to figuratively sew the big bunting onto their flagpole.

They squeezed the Red Sox through a 2-1 11-inning wringer yesterday to assure themselves of no worse than a tie. They have won 90 games and lost 45. If they lost every one of their remaining 19 contests they still would have only 64 defeats—the same number that Boston and the Chicago White Sox, tied for second place, already have.

The latter clubs are 19½ games behind the leaders, and the Cleveland Indians, who were seven proud games in front of the Yanks on May 25, today are 22½ back and threatened even with the loss of their place in the first division.

Today, if the Yanks nail down their flag, it will be with both Joe's, McCarthy and DiMaggio, absent from the scene. The manager was left behind in a Washington hospital for treatment of a gall bladder ailment and DiMaggio was dropped off at home to recover from an ankle injury.

Their part in getting the Yanks to the top won't be overlooked, however, and both are expected to rejoin the club in New York this week-end.

The Yanks were nearly given the works by Broadway Charley Wagner of the Red Sox yesterday. They were held to seven hits and it took Tom Henrich's 27th homer in the eighth inning to throw the game into extra innings and give New York a chance to win in the 11th when Red Rolfe hit into a force play with the bases loaded, scoring one run.

Meanwhile the Brooklyn Dodgers blew a bountiful opportunity to take the national league lead away from the St. Louis Cardinals, who were kept idle by rain.

Brooklyn had a doubleheader with the last place Phillies and won the first game 4-1 with Whit Wyatt pitching a four-hitter for his 19th victory. Then Manager Leo Durocher gambled on a young lighthander named Ed Albosta, who reported two days before from Durham of the Piedmont league. The Phils gave him a going over to win the nightcap 4-1. This put the Dodgers four percentage points instead of two behind the Cards.

Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 3-2 in a night game although Elmer Riddle held the Pirates to six hits

Washington whipped the Philadelphia Athletics 9-8 with a five-run rally in the ninth.

Ohio Wesleyan university will open its 100th year with a step in the direction of big-time football, it has been announced by George E. Gauthier, head coach and director of athletics. The Battling Bishops have nine games carded, the final contest being with Michigan State on Nov. 22. On Nov. 8, at the homecoming with Ohio, Gauthier plans to re-assemble some of the great teams of the past. Former coaches, such as Fielding Yost and Branch Rickey, are expected to return to the campus. Gauthier, now entering his 21st year as Bishop mentor, will open the centennial year with an attempt to bag his 100th victory. In his undergraduate days at Michigan State (then Michigan Agricultural college) 145-pound Gauthier was varsity quarter for two years and never played in a losing game.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

By SID FEDER
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz.)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Don't look now, but . . . Tommy Harmon might have given pro football a whirl (with the Chicago Bears) if it wasn't for that feud between Bear boss George Halas and Dick Richards, the ex-Detroit Lions' owner. . . . The Old Fox, Pete Reilly, is managing ex-Middleweight Champ Al Hostak now and figures on bringing him east from Seattle in a couple of weeks. . . . Wilbur Shaw is about ready to tell the folks he is through with auto racing for keeps and will spend his time in his new airplane job.

KICKIN' AROUND.

Hollywood's first reports on Billy Conn's picture are so good the movie men are inviting him out to make another. . . . Is this Joe Cronin's last year of shortstopping? . . . And is that why the Red Sox whisper confidentially Leo Pesky will be up from Louisville to take over the short field next season? . . . Porter's Cap, the west coast choice to knock off Whirlaway last spring, has gone so stale Charley Howard is turning him out to pasture. . . . Bill Terry rushed out to Memphis this week when he heard his son was sick.

NOTES TO YOU.

The Yanks are mighty interested in Milo Candini, then Kansas City farm hand, since he blinded their Sunday sluggers with that one-hit exhibition elbowing job last week . . . And if you think the boys are daffy with that football stuff in this hot weather, a dispatch just in announces the start of the basketball season in the Philippines

WHO'S NUTZ NOW?

The day before Lon Warneke tossed his no-hitter, he told the Chicago News' John Carmichael: "All the developments in this game in the last ten years favor the hitters. . . . The ball's so much like a golf ball, you can bunt it outa the park."

Hundreds of Boston fans getting ready to head for the southland to see Boston college and Holy Cross footballers do their stuff in Louisiana this fall . . . When the Cubs gave Charley Root that "day" Prexy Phil Wrigley tossed Grandpa Charley a check for $2 273 19 — representing one per cent of what he has earned pitching for the club for 15 years.

Seven Home Games Set For High School Sked.

The 1941 football season officially opened today for followers of Mansfield High's Tygers with the announcement by George Sherman that reserved season tickets were being placed on sale in downtown stores and at the high school.

The season ducats for seven home games, two of which will have a 75-cent individual ticket price, are placed on sale for $3, Sherman said

They may be obtained at Yuncker's Sports, Athletic Supply, Fox jewelry store, Tawse's pharmacy, Mayer's drug store, and at the high school.

Sept. 19—Akron West.
Sept. 26—at Elyria.
Oct. 3—Sandusky.
Oct. 10—at Newark.
Oct. 17—Springfield.
Oct. 24—at Massillon.
Oct. 31—Cleveland Central.
Nov. 7—Canton McKinley.
Nov. 15—Shelby.
Nov. 20—Fremont.

All but the last two games will be played at night. The Springfield game has been designated as Dad's Day, and the Canton McKinley game as Homecoming. Separate tickets for the McKinley and Fremont games will cost 75 cents, the McKinley tilt being regarded as the big game on the home schedule, while the Fremont game comes on Thanksgiving Day.

Milt Piepul, who's trading in his Notre Dame suit for a Detroit Lions' paycheck, and Jim Castiglia, Georgetown's kicking ace, these youngsters threw plenty of scares into the pros here and in Chicago

Mounts Have Five Lettermen

ALLIANCE—(AP)—Coach Harry Geltz of Mount Union college will have five lettermen as a nucleus for his 1941 Purple Raider eleven, but sophomores may hold the answer to the team's success.

Mount Union will start practice Sept. 10, the earliest date permitted for Ohio Conference rulings.

The five lettermen, all seniors, are George Freetage of Sebring, center; Richard Davis of Niles, end; Bill McCrea of Pittsburgh, Pa., guard; Bob Burch of Youngstown, halfback and Myron Palmer of Wilkinsburg, Pa., a guard.

Much of the Purple's showing will depend upon the development of 14 sophomores. They are Charles Sell, Alliance; Charles Meeker, Cliff Bolander and Alan Miller, Youngstown; Harry George and Ray Neshutz, Minerva; Walter Getzinger, Kenton; Ed Lazeat, Louisville; Dick Myers, Beloit; Jim Newmyer, Greensburg, Pa.; Paul Pugh, Ravenna; Jim Shondel, Clinton; Ernie Starr, Steubenville and Dick South, Massillon.

In addition to his five lettermen, Coach Geltz will have five other seniors and four juniors from last season's squad, if they all return to school.

Mount Union will play a schedule of eight games, four here and four on the road, meeting Hiram and Washington and Jefferson in non-conference frays ad playing six Ohio Conference rivals.

Pros Trip All-Stars Again

Rams Drub College Boys, Massillon Band Shines.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The futility of attempting to match a well-drilled professional football team with a club molded in three short weeks was amply demonstrated again last night as the Cleveland Rams drove to an easy 37-7 decision over a squad of all-stars collected mainly from mid-western universities

Although 30,000 fans turned out for the fourth annual Cleveland stadium charity clash, the half-time performance of the snappy Massillon, O., high school band vied strongly with several long runs for the customer interest.

It was obvious the All-Stars didn't have a chance from the time they tossed a pass behind their own goal line to start the Rams' touchdown parade until Parker Hall ended the scoring with a 33-yard run through the left side of the weary collegians.

Midway in the first period Quarterback Don Elting from the University of Illinois threw a short suicide pass from behind his own goal Paul McDonough, six-foot four-inch flankman for the Rams intercepted and could have walked the five yards across the goal.

The panic was on, for Hall sprinted 16 yards to set up a touchdown for Gaylon Smith Marty Slovak contributed some neat broken field running for a 56-yard tally and Boyd Clay contributed a 32-yard placekick to give the Rams three more points and a 24-0 halftime edge. They coasted the remainder of the way.

The All-Stars' lone touchdown came against the pros' third stringers as Carl Estenick from John Carroll university took a long third-quarter pass from Creighton's Johnny Knolla and eluded a flock of tacklers for a 69-yard touchdown.

It was the collegians' fourth loss in as many appearances against the heavier Rams, and the most decisive of all The American Legion and the Cleveland News sponsored the hostilities

Girl Motorcycle Riders Do Bit

The women's auxiliary of the Mansfield Motorcycle club will have charge of the concessions at the club's races Sunday afternoon at the Fairground

What is the women's auxiliary? They are the girls who ride the rumble seats of the motorcycles driven by the club members, and some of the girls even ride the motorcycles.

While a number of entries have already been received for the event which is sanctioned by the American Motorcycle association, most of the racers are expected to wait until the last minute to signify their intention of competing.

There were 30 motorcycle riders here for the race which was rained out June 15, and at least that many are expected Sunday Tickets sold for the June 15 meet will be honored

CAMP PERRY — (AP) — Seven pistol championships, six with the 38 caliber revolver and one with the service weapon, were on the national match scheduled today along with three .22 caliber rifle events.

Only one of the originally scheduled small bore rifle matches was due for decision, heavy entry lists forcing postponement of two, cancellation of one, and a rearrangement of the entire slate One of yesterday's postponed events was to be decided, and another was moved up from Friday's schedule

Lift Grid Loop Lid In Big New Rubber Bowl.

AKRON—Cleveland Rams and Pittsburgh Steelers will lift the lid on the National Football league season Sunday afternoon in Akron's Rubber Bowl before an expected crowd of 30,000 or more.

The Rubber Bowl lies adjacent to Akron's Derby Downs, scene of the All-American Soap Box Derby and is known to thousands of Ohioans who annually attend the Derby and pre-race programs in the great concrete stadium

Clash of the Rams and Steelers will not only be the first game in the professional league but will mark Elmer Layden's first contest as high commissioner of league affairs. Layden will be an honor guest.

The game brings professional football back to an area which for many years was looked upon as the center of the play-for-pay sport—Akron-Canton-Massillon.

The Steelers, warming up for the inaugural, defeated the highly touted Detroit Lions in an exhibition at Forbes field, Pittsburgh, Monday, while the Rams warmed up with the annual game with the Midwest All-Stars in Cleveland Stadium Wednesday night.

Advance ticket sales have been heavy but 25,000 tickets at popular prices will be held back for sale at the stadium starting at noon Sunday The game is an afternoon affair, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

Birds Clinch A. A. Pennant

Eighth Inning Rally Wins For Columbus.

The American association pennant belongs to the Columbus Red Birds

The St Louis Cardinals' farm club clinched the flag last night by defeating Indianapolis, 5 to 3. They now lead second place Louisville by 6½ games and have only five to play Louisville, rained out for the second straight night, has six games left

The pennant was the seventh for Columbus and the fourth since club took over the franchise in 1931. The last flag was won in 1937, a year after Burt Hotton took over as manager Kansas City took the 1940 pennant

After maintaining a tie for first in the opening three days of the season, the Red Birds sagged to seventh in May and then took the lead again June 10, holding it six days Ousted a second time, they didn't reach the top again until Aug 3, but after that they never were deposed

The pennant clinching victory was like a lot of the games Columbus won in the stretch. The flock trailed the Indians, 3 to 1, after the third inning and then blasted across four tallies in the eighth to win. It was the 19th pitching victory for Johnny Grodzicki.

Kansas City defeated Minneapolis, 7 to 5, to tie the Millers for third place

Walt Missler, Ex-Brave, To Catch Against Clowns.

THE Ethiopian Clown-Toledo Krantz Old Dutch exhibition baseball game in Fairgrounds park here tomorrow night at 8:30 looms as one of the most exciting and novel attractions ever offered in these parts

The Clown record of 98 wins against five defeats including the Denver Post championship, stamps the Miamians as major league ball players, while their attendance record of 1,128,000 paid as of Monday, Sept. 2, indicates their popularity. A total of 75,000 watched them in Denver while getting closer to home, 2,875 were on hand in Wakeman, Ohio, a little crossroads town.

The Toledo Brewers should prove worthy opponents. They won the Class A Federation championship in Toledo and ate on their way to compete in the national tournament which starts Sept 6 in Youngstown

Krantz is loaded with ex-minor league stars lured home by good offers in defense industry. "Peanuts" Amborski, ace pitcher, was with the Lima Pandas, while Walt Sisminski, another ace chucker, was in the Piedmont league "Red" Smith, curve balling southpaw, who will probably face the Clowns here, was Toledo university's No 1 flinger last season.

Walt Missler, head catcher, is a former Brave receiver. Frank Katafias, first sacker, was with the Pandas, George Wendt, second baseman, with Flint in the Michigan State, while Dick Strugarek, flashy shortstop, who starred at Dayton university, has been working out with the Cleveland Indians the past two weeks.

Joe Boley, hard hitting third sacker, played in the Cotton States with Vicksburg, while Outfielder Al Mocek, although only 21 years old, is a two year veteran of the Piedmont league. The class of the Brewers assures the Clowns a battle.

Fans are urged to get to the ball park around 7:30 as the fun starts promptly at 8 o'clock, the game at 8:30 The Brown Al Schacht or rather a combination of Al Schacht and Nick Altrock, namely "Peanut" Nyasses, is said to be the funniest comedian outside the big top

Hank Rigney, the promoter, does not hesitate to recommend the Clowns as a "cure all" Rigney says, "they draw bigger every time they play"

Fans are expected here from 75 miles away to see the Clowns play and entertain Gates open promptly at 6:30.

PITCHER BOUGHT

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Columbus Red Birds of the American association today announced the purchase of Pitcher Elwin "Preacher" Roe from the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed amount of cash. Roe, who has been with the Birds on option, is 23 years old, and has been in organized ball four years.

On July 2 the sun was at its farthest point from the earth, some 3,000,000 miles farther away than it was last January.

BIGGEST AUTOMOBILE NEWS OF THE YEAR!

TYPHOON SUPER-CHARGER with OIL BATH AIR CLEANER

Goes on in 5 minutes, yet lasts lifetime of car without upkeep, maintenance, or repair. GUARANTEED to give cars faster pick-up, more speed, smoother performance. If not fully satisfied, return in 60 days for prompt refund.

HERE'S HOW IT SUPERCHARGES AT A GLANCE

Without "Typhoon," motor must pull air through clogged air filter into carburetor. Not enough air gets through to end cylinders. Result: UNBALANCED PERFORMANCE.

With "Typhoon" plenty of air rushes into carburetor—gets to all cylinders. Result: BALANCED PERFORMANCE!

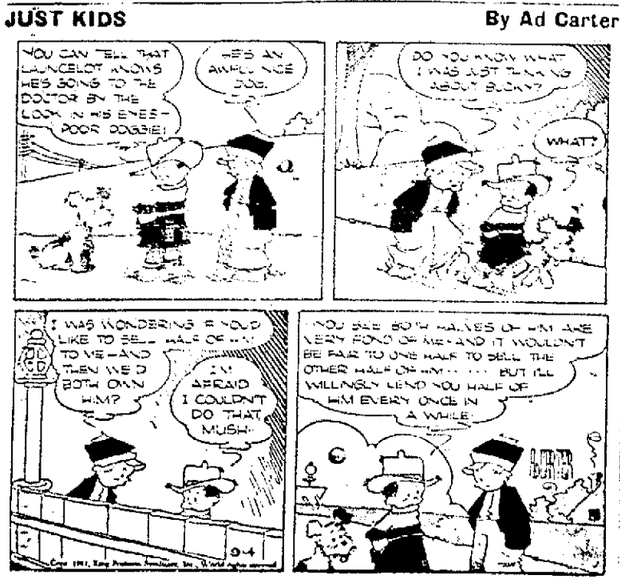
JUST KIDS By Ad Carter



YOU CAN TELL THAT LANCELOT KNOWS HE'S GOING TO THE DOCTOR BY THE LOOK IN HIS EYES—POOR DOGGIE!
HE'S AN AWFUL NICE DOG.
DO YOU KNOW WHAT I WAS JUST THINKING ABOUT SUSAN?
WHAT?
I WAS WONDERING IF YOU'D LIKE TO SELL HALF OF HIM TO ME—AND THEN WE'D BOTH OWN HIM?
I'M AFRAID I COULDN'T DO THAT MUSH.
YOU SEE BOTH HALVES OF HIM ARE VERY FOND OF ME—AND IT WOULDN'T BE FAIR TO ONE HALF TO SELL THE OTHER HALF OF HIM . . . BUT I'LL WILLINGLY LEND YOU HALF OF HIM EVERY ONCE IN A WHILE.

PAM—Odd Young Man! By A. W. Brewerton

THERE'S ONE OTHER MATTER, COLONEL. I NEED YOUR HELP BADLY
COUNT ON ME, APPLEBY—IF IT'S IN MY POWER
IT'S NOT A LEGAL MATTER, HOWEVER. IT CONCERNS YOUR——
CHARMING LITTLE SECRETARY, MISS PAM! I'M TREMENDOUSLY IN HER DEBT, AND I'D LIKE TO DO SOMETHING REALLY HANDSOME TO SHOW MY GRATITUDE. BUT WHAT? THAT'S WHERE I NEED YOUR HELP.
HA, HA! I'LL THINK IT OVER, SIR. I'LL BE GLAD TO!
IN THE OUTER OFFICE, WHERE THE ODD YOUNG MAN WAITED TO SEE COLONEL CAREY, PAM WAS INCREASINGLY CONSCIOUS OF HIS KEEN SCRUTINY. SUDDENLY HE SPOKE—PARDON ME, BUT WOULD YOU EXCUSE A RATHER PECULIAR, PERSONAL QUESTION?
WHY—
YES, GO AHEAD!
HAVE — HAVE YOU EVER SEEN ME BEFORE?

WAR VETERAN HAS OWN JOKE

WILMINGTON, Del.—(AP)—Police squads and ambulance crews combed the waterfront section of the city in response to an emergency call from a man who said his leg had been shot off.

After ransacking stores, rooming houses and back alleys the men found the shooting victim, Patrick O'Shaughnessy, sitting on an upturned barrel with the stump of his leg stuck out in front of him.

Sure, and Pat's leg had been shot off—during the World war 23 years ago.

STOCKS BOGGED DOWN BY DOUBT AT WORLD SCENE

Show Little Inclination To Develop Trend, Prices Remain Mixed.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks slipped a little deeper into a rut of inaction today and showed a disinclination to develop a definite trend. Prices were slightly mixed at the opening with changes generally negligible.

Speculative circles saw the market still becalmed by question marks in international affairs, the pending tax bill and federal controls on business.

Rated by analysts as a constructive item was the Dun & Bradstreet weekly report on bank clearings showing for the latest period a rise of 41 per cent over a year ago. Consumption of electrical energy in the week ended Aug. 30 showed a more than seasonal advance.

FOUR CRASHES NEAR SHELBY

All Occur on Curve South of City, One Auto Rams Into Garage.

SHELBY — State highway employes today had placed roughening material on Route 39, one mile south of Shelby, on the Stevens' curve where four traffic accidents have occurred in the past 24 hours.

Although persons involved in the accidents escaped serious injury, several sustained cuts and bruises.

A car driven by M. L. Williams of Ripley Center crashed into a garage on the Earnest Stevens farm at the curve early this morning when it skidded on wet pavement.

The car went through the garage door and collided with Stevens' car which was parked in the building. Both machines were damaged.

Williams, who was injured, was able to continue into Shelby. He was coming to work when the accident occurred.

Two other automobiles and a light truck skidded into the ditch during the night.

A fifth accident occurred in the Shelby area this morning when a car in which two Crestline girls were coming to work here, skidded on Route 39, one mile west of the city and went into the ditch. Neither was injured.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Turn Down Project—Richland county commissioners yesterday rejected a petition for improvement of the Grandview Terrace ditch southeast of Mansfield after deciding that the proposed project would not benefit enough property holders.

Check Rubbish Fire—Mansfield firemen were called out yesterday at 7:45 p. m. to extinguish a rubbish fire at the rear of the Isaly Dairy company plant, on North Franklin street.

Seek Wheel Thief—Police are seeking a thief who stole four truck wheels and a brake assembly valued at about $50 from the yard of the Brooker Bros., trucking company, rear 282 North Diamond street, Tuesday night. A check is being made on a colored man who attempted to sell the articles to two junk dealers, police said.
